French Premier Denounces Breeders Of War

BRIAND GETS BIG OVATION AT ASSEMBLY

Appeals to Women to Protect Children from Ideas of Hatred BELIEVES IN LEAGUE
Economic as Well as Military Disarmament Necessary, He Says

Geneva.—(AP)—Premier Aristide Briand of France, whose oratorical triumphs have won him the reputation of the most brilliant orator of the world, received the biggest acclamation of his long career today before the tenth assembly of the league of nations, when he made a stirring tribute to the decade of work by the league and scourged war-makers and all those who erectly foster the spirit of war in the coming generations.

When in his memorable address he sent forth an appeal to the women of the world to protect their children from false ideas of strife and from those doctrines calculated to inculcate prejudice and hatred among peoples, the great audience which packed the assembly hall burst into wild and prolonged cheers.

The French premier contended himself with a modest reference to his project for a "United States of Europe," saying that although his idea had been described as a dream, he was convinced that the nations of Europe could establish closer ties to their mutual benefit.

He asked the governments to study his problem, remarking significantly that in addition to military disarmament there was another kind of disarmament that was necessary, and that was an economic one. He believed this problem should be attacked from the political standpoint.

All the delegates, including nearly 500 of the members and foreign ministers and as many again of former rulers and former foreign ministers, rose to greet M. Briand as he came down from the rostrum.

It was an impressive tribute to the great French premier, whose small form seemed modestly desirous of effacing itself in the crowd.

The ovation did not end in the assembly hall itself for a big crowd gathered in the streets outside and hailed him with cheers of spontaneous admiration on his appearance.

JUDGE FREES GIRLS BROUGHT TO COURT FOR PAJAMA GARB

Chicago.—(AP)—In these United States generally and in Chicago particularly, one is entitled to wear what one pleases.

Thus decided Judge William R. Foster when two Kenosha girls were brought before him today charged with blocking the traffic when they paraded down State-st yesterday in pajamas.

Miss Dorothy Yankas, 23, and Mrs. Amanda Bennett, 22, explained to the judge that they were just paying a bet by making the little skirt in their pajamas. The idea was that the girls believed the Allen-A. history mills strike would be over before the Graf Zeppelin reached Friedrichshafen from Lakehurst, N. J.

FAIL TO FIND T. A. T. PLANE WITH 8 ABOARD

Confusion and Mystery Surround Facts Concerning Air Liner

BULLETIN
New York.—(AP)—Col. Paul Henderson, vice president of the Transcontinental Air Transport, announced today that it had been established that the company's missing plane was not wrecked in Black Rock Wash, N. M., as was reported last night.

"The T. A. T. has received no official information that its missing plane has been found," he said. "Officials of the company after search by plane, ambulance and foot through the country near Gallup, N. M., report that the plane is not demolished nor the passengers dead in Black Rock Wash as reported last night."

Rain Sounds Requiem For Forest Fires

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A pelting rain sounded the requiem today for two score forest fires in Wisconsin and the upper peninsula of Michigan.

As it fell, drenching woods dried by three weeks of hot weather, wardens in charge of fire fighting operations declared the situation was well under control except in one isolated spot.

A dozen counties in Wisconsin and four in upper Michigan, which Tuesday had recruited all available men in their battle, today detailed only small patrols to make sure that flames might not burst forth again.

Only along the Oconto-Forest-co line in Wisconsin was there any concern. The rain was not so heavy there as elsewhere. Six fires were under control but a seventh was burning toward the Peshtigo river and the Forest-Marquette-co line. The plovering of fire breaks and anticipated showers were expected to bring it under control soon. It has burned over nearly 12,000 acres, mostly around Lakewood.

From Wood and Sawyer-coos on the west to Florence on the east, what were infernos of flame Tuesday, last night were changed to steaming cauldrons as the rain fell.

On the peninsula, there was elation as fires in virgin Ontonagon and Baraga-co timber were believed half-vacated. The same rain, it was thought, had brought to an end the danger to Isle Royale, 60 miles out in Lake Superior, the site of ancient Indian civilizations.

Good-co reported that combination of rain and a large crew of men controlled flames in a swampy area near Blron, Wis. In Rusty-co, two or three small fires were put out after they had burned two or three hastily vacated farm homes. The damage was small.

An all-day rain in Sawyer-co and in Florence-co disposed of the threat to timberlands.

BUSINESSMAN MUST BE ABLE TO READ HEADS

Wisehaupt Tells Why Square Peg Gets Inserted in Round Hole

"Know how to classify people, and your success is practically assured," Howard J. Wisehaupt, business analyst told about 250 people last night in the second of the series of lectures this week at the senior high school. Mr. Wisehaupt is in Appleton under the auspices of the Appleton Chamber of Commerce and the Appleton Post-Crescent.

Mr. Wisehaupt explained that there are three general types of people and that "it is no trouble for anyone to classify every person he meets under three three kinds: The thick head type, the thin head type and the head type."

Thick heads are the men who have square heads and jaws, square shoulders and square arms. They are abrupt and to the point. They are the fighters.

Thin heads are the people who love beauty and arts. They have long, slender hands, thin faces, pointed chins and noses. These people are the dreamers. From this class come the artists the poets and the inventors. Rebuffs hurt these people. They can sell women easily because they are gentle and patient.

Round heads, which constitute the third type, are the fat people. They are the fighters and the politicians. The thin heads usually bring their arguments to them and the round head, take them to the thick head who develops them.

Mr. Wisehaupt explained that a lack of knowledge of these traits of people causes employees to put them to work at the wrong thing—and thus lose money.

He explained that one of the biggest factors in business today is the knowledge in employment, but if employers learned how to classify their employees they would make a much bigger success.

"The lack of this classification knowledge is responsible for the fact that only half of the freshmen who enter our high schools ever graduate," Mr. Wisehaupt said. "If the teachers or advisors do not know

Stocks Take Nose Dive In Final Hour

New York.—(AP)—The stock prices went into a dizzy nose dive in the New York stock exchange in the last hour of trading today, after a sharp upswing in a wide assortment of leading issues earlier in the session. Such a flood of selling came into the market that the ticker was half an hour late at the close. United States Steel common tumbled $3 a share, and such issues as Radio and New York Central $5 and more.

Many traders saw in the drop only a corrective reaction which has been due for several days, as result of the startling rapid bidding up of prices in recent weeks.

General Electric, after selling up $7 to a record price at $397, tumbled to $382.50. Several prominent utilities, such as American and Fortson Power, American Water Works, American Power and Light, which had reached new high levels earlier in the day, the last named with an extreme gain of $14, lost much of their gains.

Among issues to lose $6 to $11 were Dupont, American Telephone, Air Reduction, Westinghouse Electric, Johns Manville, Bethlehem Steel, Allied Chemical and Pere Marquette.

The overnight announcement of a gain in borrowings by stock exchange members during August of more than $400,000,000 for the third successive month, carrying the total of such borrowings close to $8,000,000,000, made traders rather nervous but bull operators were able to keep prices moving higher until afternoon when financial news tickers carried a statement by Roger Babson, economist and statistician, that sooner or later the stock market would break in a manner rivaling the collapse of the Florida land boom.

This appeared to unfatten the flood gates of selling. Although Mr. Babson has been predicting a break in stock prices for a long time, this particular statement caught Wall Street in a fretful frame of mind.

WHAT NEXT! FARMER ROBBED OF STOCK ON HIS WAY TO MARKET

Chicago.—(AP)—Things have come to a pretty pass in Chicago, what with farmers unable to market their livestock for fear of highway robbers.

A truck load of hogs worth $2,000 was hi-jacked by thieves this morning. A trio of robbers drove alongside the truck headed for a stockyards packing company and forced it to the curb. Two of the robbers held the truck driver, Frank Troney, captive while the third drove off with the truck. Troney later was freed and reported the robbery to the police.

E. C. BRUEHL DIES TRYING TO SAVE BOY

Rescues One Son and Heart Fails as He Seeks Other BODIES ARE RECOVERED
Summer Home Neighbors Assist in Search After Tragedy

Emery C. Bruhl, 42, Menasha, secretary and treasurer of the Menasha Building and Supply Co., Menasha, and his 13-year-old son Robert lost their lives in Lake Winnebago, near their summer home on the north shore, late yesterday afternoon. Mr. Bruhl's death, it is believed, was caused by heart failure brought on by the excitement and effort of trying to rescue his two sons from drowning. One of the boys, Mark, 10, was saved, but the other boy lost his life.

The Bruhl family, which had been living at the lake most of the summer, was preparing to swim and the boys were the first to enter the water. The wind was blowing up heavily waves and it is believed the boys were carried into water beyond their depths. The father observed them struggling in the waves and rushed out to them and after seeing Mark and getting him back toward shore until he met his daughter Gretchen and Mrs. Dolores Kasel, whose cottage is next door, turned back to help Robert who had disappeared and was himself overcome in the search.

The bodies of the father and son were recovered in fifteen or 20 minutes by the sons of C. O. Goehner, who also live nearby but attempts at rescuing them were unsuccessful.

The bodies were taken to the Menasha Furniture company's funeral home.

Mr. Bruhl was born in Menasha and was one of its leading business men. He is survived by his widow and five children, Gretchen, Mark, Betty, Thomas and Mary; father, Anton Bruhl; brother, Joseph Bruhl and two sisters, Mrs. Louis Anderson and Miss Elizabeth Bruhl. He was a member of the Knights of Columbus, Elks and Kiwanis clubs.

Robert was a member of the eighth grade of St. Mary's school and also a member of St. Mary high school band.

Funeral services for Mr. Bruhl and his son will be held at 10 o'clock Saturday morning at St. Mary church. It will be a double funeral in the Rev. John Hummel will be in charge. Burial will be at St. Margaret cemetery.

Rain Brings Relief From Heat Wave

Milwaukee.—(AP)—A heavy thunderstorm that swooped down on the city on the wings of a wind that had shifted from the southwest to the north late last night careened the mercury downward 30 degrees and snapped the heat wave under which this city boiled for four days. A light rain was still falling today.

The thermometer registered a bare 58 this morning, while the indicator stood at 88 yesterday. The rain approximated .77 of an inch at 7 a. m., the heaviest since July 13.

With the exception of a small section about Wausau, the rain was general over the state. The government weather bureau here was of the opinion that it had been beneficial throughout the state.

Meanwhile, the first death directly attributable to the four-day torrid spell occurred late yesterday when Rutherford R. Held, 31, of Girard, O., died shortly after collapsing at the summer home of his fiancée, Miss Charlotte Logeman, just north of the city.

CHICAGO ENDURANCE PLANE FORCED DOWN

Balky Magneto Ends Flight After 291 Hours, Two Minutes in Air

Chicago.—(AP)—The "Chicago-We Will," which was forced down yesterday after 291 hours and two minutes in the air, was to be flown to Patterson, N. J., today to be groomed for another possible takeoff Sunday in quest of the world refueling endurance flying record.

Tentative plans for another attempt, after a new motor has been installed in the plane, were made before the two pilots, Russell Mossman and C. E. Steele, fell into deep slumber after their weary 12 days and three hours in the air.

A balky magneto suddenly ended the flight at 2:33 p. m. It was the same kind of trouble that nearly terminated the record making 421 hour flight of the "St. Louis Robin" long before the record had been set.

Mossman and Steele took turns crawling out on the treacherous catwalk trying to repair the instrument. Eight sparkplugs were changed, but when the flyers found them selves unable to correct the trouble they decided to land rather than take unnecessary risks.

The "Chicago-We Will" took the air at 11:21 a. m. on Friday, Aug. 12.

Trouble occurred almost at the start when a rocker arm got out of adjustment. The trouble was repaired, but soon afterwards the ground crew discovered that the hose on the refueling plane had been slashed several times, apparently with a knife.

Both men appeared well when they crawled from the cabin upon landing, but Steele had lost considerable weight.

CHICAGO JUDGE IS OPPOSED TO EASY DIVORCES, HE SAYS

Chicago.—(AP)—It won't be so easy to get a divorce in Chicago if Judge Michael Feinberg can help it.

Mrs. Mary Lange, 19 years old, had sought a divorce, charging cruelty. She and Edward Lange were married in March and separated in May.

"I do not place much credence in your story," Judge Feinberg said. "Divorces are entirely too easy to get in Chicago. Because judges fail to investigate such pleas as yours, we are known as the New Reno."

"If I were to give you a divorce you could turn around and get married again. Then, knowing how easy it is to get a divorce, you could bring suit at the first petty quarrel with your new husband."

Judge Feinberg continued the case for two years. Until the case is called again, lawyers said, neither Mrs. Lange nor her husband can bring suit.

16 Witnesses Are Sworn When Jury Enters Courtroom Today

Charlotte, N. C.—(AP)—The trial of 16 strikers and strike leaders, accused of the murder of O. C. Adorff, chief of police of Gastonia, finally reached the taking of evidence today.

Sixteen state witnesses were sworn when the jury, which was finally obtained yesterday after more than a week of effort, entered court today.

The first battle over the question of evidence came up a moment after the calling of Dr. H. R. McConnell, who treated the dead policeman after he was wounded in a fight at the Lory mill strike tent colony. The state trundled a life-size model of a policeman dressed in uniform and with a chief's badge into court. The defense objected arguing that they admitted the officer was shot. Judge M. V. Barnhill ordered the dummy removed.

The judge, on objection of Arthur Garfield Hayes of defense counsel, ruled out statements made by the dead man during his last hour as quoted by the physician.

SWINDLE NEW YORK BANKS OF $450,000

Two Bunco Men, Working in New York and Denver, Sought by Authorities

Denver.—(AP)—A pair of bunco men, one working in Denver and the other in New York, swindled six New York City banks out of $450,000 last Saturday, police were advised today.

The six New York banks were correspondents of a like number of Denver banks. Each of the New York institutions contributed $75,000 to the scheme of the swindlers.

Saturday in New York City, the New York accomplices of the local swindler appeared at the Chase National bank and presented a cashier's check for withdrawal of $450,000. The cashier's check is supposed to have been forged.

Discovery of the swindle was made when the Denver banks received the usual charge slips. These showed the Denver banks had "authorized" the transfer of $75,000 each to the Chase National bank for the account of the Bank of Telluride.

The presidents of each of the Denver banks immediately notified officials of the New York institutions they had not authorized the transfer of any money to the Chase National bank for the account of the Bank of Telluride.

The swindle was explained as explained to the fact that the county is operating on a budget based on estimates of revenues far in excess of that which will be produced, this being due to a reassessment.

COOK-CO MAY PAY ITS WORKERS WITH I. O. U.'S

Chicago.—(AP)—A financial situation described by County Treasurer George F. Harding, as "extremely discouraging" threatened today to shut I. O. U.'s on the county's 4,000 employees on the next semi-monthly payday, Sept. 20.

"We have approximately $125,000 in the corporate fund and a $450,000 payroll ahead," Harding said. "In my opinion it will be necessary to authorize the issuance of scrip."

Should this course be necessary a majority of the workers, including board members, department heads, judges and all technical clerical workers, would be paid with the county's I. O. U.'s, redeemable at such time as the county may have the money.

The immediate difficulty is explained as due to the fact that the county is operating on a budget based on estimates of revenues far in excess of that which will be produced, this being due to a reassessment.

CONTINUE PLEAS IN KOHLER CASE

Special Counsel Defends Right of Legislature to Govern Elections

Madison.—(AP)—With a promise to give an early decision, Judge James Wickham, Eau Claire, today took under consideration the question of ordering Governor Walter J. Kohler to trial for alleged violation of corrupt practices act. Of ordering the proceedings against him dismissed.

Madison.—(AP)—Continuing their attack upon the validity of Governor Walter J. Kohler's title to office, Walter D. Corrigan and Harold M. Wilkie, special state counsel, today defended the right of the legislature to make regulations concerning the election of even constitutional state officers.

Arguments in the demurrer which the governor's counsel interposed in the suit to oust him for alleged violation of the corrupt practices act, lasted all day Wednesday and were continued today.

Harry L. Butler and Edwin S. Mack, representing the governor, occupied most of the Wednesday session with their arguments before Judge James Wickham. Late in the day Mr. Wilkie replied to their arguments. Mr. Corrigan was to resume the argument today.

"The legislature, in exercise of its police power," Mr. Wilkie said, "has the right to restrict the use of money in elections, even for a candidate for governor. It has the right to say certain expenditures for advertising, for public speakers and similar uses are unreasonable to say that a man who gets the most votes, regardless of how many election laws he violates, can't be removed from office."

Mack and Butler contended under the constitution the legislature cannot declare the election of a governor void, and argued the corrupt practices act is, therefore, unconstitutional.

Wilkie replied: "It is just a matter of common sense that the legislature has the right to regulate elections. It is unreasonable to say that a man who gets the most votes, regardless of how many election laws he violates, can't be removed from office."

400 Engineers To Make Nicaraguan Canal Survey

Washington.—(AP)—A picked engineering battalion numbering 400 officers and men today was ordered by Secretary Good to duty in the central American jungle to survey the route of the proposed $1,000,000,000 Nicaraguan canal.

Upon the report of these engineers largely will depend the decision of the American government as to whether it shall undertake the stupendous task of constructing a canal stretching 183 miles through tropical mountains and forests from the Atlantic to the Pacific oceans. Government engineers estimate it would require 10 years to complete the project, which would give the United States, with the Panama Canal, two of the most important waterways in the world.

Selected from the best of the army's engineering forces, units that go to make up the battalion are being outfitted to remain in the jungle region for two years, the estimated time needed for the work.

The survey was approved by congress last spring when it was brought to its attention that the

NEW LIGHT CRUISER IS READY FOR CHRISTENING

Quincy, Mass.—(AP)—The light cruiser Northampton was poised on the ways of the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation's fore river yards here today, awaiting only the presence of its sponsor, Mrs. Calvin Coolidge, to start its career afloat.

The 10,000-ton ship is the first of its name, a choice especially made to honor former President Coolidge, who signed the naval bill in 1924, under which eight fighting ships of the same class were authorized. Northampton, Mass., is the home of the Coolidges.

Charles Francis Adams, secretary of the Navy, and his aide, Captain George F. New, were to represent the department at the ceremonies. Mrs. Coolidge was to be accompanied here by a large delegation of Northampton citizens headed by Mayor Jesse A. C. Andre.

The former president found it impossible to attend.

WORKERS STRIVE TO FREE FOUR IN MINE

Stockton, Calif.—(AP)—The fate of four miners trapped in a cave-in on the 1,550 foot level of the Copperopolis mine of the Calaveras Copper company was sealed behind tons of rock today while a crew of fellow workers labored valiantly to reach them.

Eight men were working on the 1,550-foot level yesterday at the time of the slide of rock. Two escaped. Another, Ompey Valle, Mexican, was extricated, badly crushed. He will recover.

Groans and screams of another man, a Mexican, were heard by rescue workers. How many feet he is from the point where rescuers could not say.

Mine officials said there was little hope that the four men would be found alive. They are Joe King, foreman, Ed Bixler, Gonzalo Gonzalez, and Leo Lopez.

U.S. To Call Scores Of Witnesses In Fall Trial

Washington.—(AP)—Scores of witnesses, some whose names were household words long before the temperance war began to blow over Teapot Dome, and some whom the oil scandals have brought to public attention, are being summoned by the United States for the trial of former Secretary of Interior Albert B. Fall.

The name of former Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty is among the first in the list of persons subpoenaed to appear Oct. 7, the day Fall goes to trial on the charge on which he was first arraigned June 30, 1921—the charge which reads "violation of section 117, U. S. penal code; accepting bribe as secretary of interior."

It is reported, meanwhile, that Frank Hogan—who was successful in the defense of Edward L. Doherty in his appearance as counsel for Fall. Hogan's office, however, declines to comment, explaining that he is now in the west and will not return until the middle of the month.

Council Approves Plans For New Ornamental Lights

ORDERS CLERK TO GET BIDS FOR SYSETEM

Majority of Property Holders Petition City for Project

Detailed plans and specifications for an ornamental lighting system for College-ave were adopted Wednesday night by the common council. At the same time, the city clerk was instructed to advertise for bids. The plans were presented by the board of public works. They provide for the erection of five-light posts on each side of the street between Drew and Thurston; four on each side between Durkee and Durston; four on each side between Morrison and Oneida; three on each side between Oneida and Appleton; four on each side between Appleton and Superior; nine on each side between Superior and Walnut; four on each side between Walnut and State; and six on north side and five on the south side between State and Richmond-sts. Each post will support two lights. A petition asking for the installation, signed by merchants representing more than a majority of the frontage on College-ave was received by the aldermen. A majority frontage consists of 3,217 feet. It was said, while the petition bore signatures of business men representing a frontage of 3,893 feet.

ORDER NEW CHAIRS
Appleton's aldermen no longer will be required to sit for hours at council meetings in straining-backed chairs. They are going to be comfortable hereafter. Purchase of new swivel chairs, which will allow them to swing around and lean back with ease, was authorized by them Wednesday night. Now they are hoping for an early delivery.

Cost of the installation will be paid by the business men and the city. According to a city ordinance the cost of ornamental lights is apportioned two-thirds and one-third in business districts. In other words, merchants on each side of the street will stand for one-third of the cost. For two-thirds of the cost, the remaining third will be paid by the city. In residential districts, property holders on each side of the street must pay 25 per cent, with the city paying the other 50 per cent. Ornamental lights will be installed in either district upon petition, providing a majority of the frontage is represented by the signers.

The council's action climaxed a movement instituted more than a year ago by the chamber of commerce and several civic organizations to secure new ornamental lights for the city's principal thoroughfares. The present lights, it was contended, are too high above the street and do not light the avenue as well as they should.

ASK REROUTING HEARING
Contract for painting the iron work on Memorial bridge was awarded to Edward Bass. The council recently advertised for bids for the work when it was reported that the iron work was rusting.

The council adopted a resolution introduced by Alderman Walter Gmeiner petitioning the state highway commission to schedule a hearing on the proposal to reroute State "Trunk" highway 10 into this city. Similar petitions have been forwarded to the state body by the chamber of commerce and the town of Harrison, Calumet-co.

Instead of coming into Appleton via S. Oneida-st, the rerouting under consideration would bring the highway into the city over Calumet-st. The plan has the hearty support of the chamber of commerce and would be welcomed, it was reported, by residents of the town of Harrison in that it would make Appleton more accessible to them. This fact also would benefit the city, it was pointed out.

Purchase of a piece of land from Cavanaugh brothers for $254 to permit widening of the Carver-st curve was approved. The council also voted to award the contract for the work to Simpson and Parker provided their former bid, which was the lowest of those submitted, still holds. This improvement has been pending for months.

The Municipal Code of the City of Appleton under preparation for more than two years, was presented to each alderman Wednesday night completed in book form. The book, of the loose-leaf kind, is leather bound, and each alderman's volume bears his name in gilt letters on the front cover. The volume contains all the city's ordinances and lists the names of all city officials and members of all boards, commissions and committees.

The council extended a vote of thanks to the committee in charge of the work, consisting of Aldermen George Richard, chairman; C. D. Thompson and George Packard, and Mark Catlin, former alderman, L. Hugo Keller, revisor, and A. C. Bosser, city attorney.

That the code is a model is indicated by the number of requests received about it from cities all over the country, it was reported.

TRIAL OF NEGRO IS SCHEDULED FOR FRIDAY

Trial of Arthur Wilson, 21, colored, of Durham, S. C., on charges of assault to rape and assault with intent to do great bodily harm, is scheduled to open Friday morning in the upper branch of municipal court before Judge Theodore Berg. Wilson was arrested after John Kersten, 1513 W. Franklin-st., had been knocked down and an attempt made to attack his 15-year-old daughter. Kersten's jaw was broken by the assault. The girl has identified Wilson as the man who attempted to attack her. Wilson claims he is innocent.

WAR-MAKERS ARE SCOURGED BY FRENCHMAN

Premier Briand Receives Greatest Ovation of Career at League Meeting

He declared his own conviction that the League of Nations could at least punish that nation which dared to infringe the Paris pact, which is now deposited in Geneva and is to have the protection of the league.

His remarks on the league and the pact were punctuated throughout by tumultuous applause.

FAVOR CONCESSIONS

Extending his comments to the field of world affairs in general, the French premier remarked that at the Hague reparations conference he would have been untrue to peace and accord if he had allowed "several millions of money" to prevent France from helping to liquidate the problems of the Great War. Had he held back on concessions he would not have been entitled to be welcomed back to France. The nations must be ready to make concessions.

Referring to Premier Ramsay MacDonald's remarks about Great Britain's naval conversations with the United States from the rostrum of the assembly, Premier Briand recalled solemnly that the league covenant required the nations to reduce their armaments as a sacred obligation.

He had a firm hope that the Anglo-American understanding of the disarmament commission of the league could convolve a conference.

There was, however, another kind of necessary disarmament, Premier Briand warned his hearers, and that was economic disarmament. He believed this problem must be taken out of the domain of technicalities and handled from a political standpoint.

Getting down to what has been called the project of "United States in Europe," Mr. Briand said that this idea had been qualified as a dream. But he was convinced that there should be closer ties between the nations of Europe which are so close together geographically, and he wanted to bring this new regime of unity into being.

He did not divulge any concrete plan for accomplishing this great idea but he appealed to all the delegates governments and to the nations of the world to study the Hague court of International Justice, M. Briand scored a great success with the assembly when he affirmed that the nations must get into the habit of going before its judges just as individuals now go before judges.

APPROVAL EXPECTED

Geneva.—(AP)—The assembly of the League of Nations is expected to approve at the current meeting the reservations formulated by Elihu Root and Sir Cecil to secure American adhesion to the permanent court of International Justice, or the World Court as it is more widely known.

This action, which was made probable yesterday by the unanimous endorsement of the conference of world court signatories approving the Root-Hurst formula, will leave only American ratification and acceptance by the United States senate in the way of America's entry into the Hague tribunal.

Some mystery attended the blanket endorsement given the Root-Hurst formula by the tribunal signatories yesterday in their secret session. It was known to have been argued by some that the American senate should indicate its approval of the formula before any such action was taken.

Rumor, more or less tacitly denied, said Sir Eric Drummond, secretary general of the league, assured the conference he had information the United States state department was in accord with the formula and would seek its ratification by the American senate. There was every reason to believe, he was said to have declared, the reservations expressed in the formula would meet the senate's approval.

In the line of this communication the conference, at which only 22 or 41 signatory states were represented, gave its immediate approval to the formula and passed it on to the assembly of the league whose endorsement was accepted as certain.

SUPPORTS PEACE PACT

Geneva.—(AP)—Paul Hymans, Belgian foreign minister, speaking before the assembly of the League of Nations today advocated a closer linking of the Kellogg-Briand pact with the covenant of the League of Nations.

He held the Kellogg pact was infinitely stronger than the league covenant because it interdicted all wars of aggression while the covenant of the league left the door open for war when the council was unable to reach unanimity as to the identity of the aggressor.

"The covenant is already old," he said, "The Kellogg-Briand pact embodies progress."

He recommended also reinforcing of the Kellogg pact by a number of practical measures which would include extension of arbitration but would embody especially a system of penalties against aggressor nations and a scheme of financial assistance for countries menaced.

Tells How Major Wood Met Death

Los Angeles.—(AP)—Ward Miller, 25, airplane mechanic, was home today recovering from the shock of his narrow escape from death in the fall of Major John Wood's racing plane near Needles, Calif., last Monday.

Miller, who arrived here yesterday after helping to locate the tangled wreckage of the plane in which Wood and he were competing in a non-stop race from Los Angeles to Cleveland, told the detailed story of his experience.

"We were two hours out from Los Angeles," Miller said. "I was in the rear of the cabin just before 3 a. m., and the major was at the controls. We were up 15,000 feet when we ran into a wind and lightning storm. The storm threw our ship into a spin. It was turned around a dozen times, dropping 2,000 feet out of control. I was holding a flare chute, waiting for a signal from the major to drop it in order to light the ground for a forced landing. I waited for the signal but it never came."

"As 15,000 feet a bolt of lightning hit the ship. The impact slammed us against the gas tank, and then right out into space. In the split second after I was flung out of the ship, I had the presence of mind to pull the rip cord of my parachute. Then I passed out. It must have been only for a few seconds, because I came to on the way down, remaining conscious for about a minute, when I landed again."

When he regained his senses, Miller said he found himself lying on the sand, bruised and with one arm temporarily useless. Near him he found an airplane wing tip, wing rib, an aileron and a piece of stabilizer. He started to walk to Needles, but when he reached Plute Springs, ten miles from his landing place, he was so exhausted he broke into a shack and slept until Tuesday morning, 12 hours. On Tuesday two automobiles passed him en route to Needles, he said, but refused to stop. A third motorist gave him a ride.

STEEL FURNISHES LADDER TO POWER FOR 7 BROTHERS

Sons of Immigrant Pair Are on Way to Still Larger Positions

Mansfield, Ohio.—(AP)—Seven brothers, born to the furnace and rolling mill, are on their way to still more important places among executives in the country's steel industry.

Of ancestors whose iron mongering activities date back to the time Caesar invaded Britain, William H. Albert, Samuel, John, Harold, F. Austin and James G. Davey have lifted the once defunct National Rolling Mills by the boot-strap and are sitting in command of the newly formed Empire Steel corporation, with a capital of $20,000,000.

William H. Davey, 67, the eldest and the leader, is president of Empire. He has handled steel ever since he was a bundler at 13 in the mills at Gloucestershire, Wales.

Three years later his mother, with 10 children and 12 cents, landed in America to join her husband.

She went to Cleveland and William started work in the old United States Steel plant at Dunlo, Pa. Four years later William, the father, and Thomas, a brother, who died 10 years ago, went to Niles, Ohio, where the family gathered.

William's career took him to many plants, and he rose to the superintendency of the Carnahan Steel company in Canton, then to the vice presidency of the Massillon Rolling Mill company.

In the meantime his brothers were ascending the ladder at Cleveland, Niles, Youngstown and other Ohio Steel centers. All were working with the hope that some day they would have their own plant.

The opportunity came in 1914, when the fires at the National mills died out and the concern announced bankruptcy.

Starting at scratch, every cent they had went into the business. With the aid of Mansfield citizens they bought the bones of the defunct plant. By 1923 the flames were roaring again.

At that time a widely-heralded merger brought into one corporation the Ashtabula Sheet Steel company, the Empire Steel company of Cleveland, the Falcon Steel company, the Thomas Sheet Steel company, the Wadsworth Steel company, all of Niles, and their concern.

William was made president of the combination. Albert heads the purchasing and open hearth department in the Mansfield works; Samuel the sheet Mills outside Mansfield; John the Mansfield sheet mill; Harold the Detroit office, and James the Philadelphia office. Austin is chief engineer.

All of the Daveys are large, muscular and tanned. They are all able to take a turn stripped to the waist in a hot mill. They know the workers' viewpoint and they are trying to "take the backache out of the mills."

STIMSON'S GOAT, WILLIAM BONES, REACHES CAPITAL

Washington.—(AP)—William Hamilton Bones, pet goat in which Secretary Stimson and his military aide while he was governor of the Philippines, Captain Eugene A. Regnier, share an interest, has arrived in Washington although last reports had him departed from San Francisco.

Billy—for short—arrived here by freight in company with two of Regnier's mounts sent from the Philippines. The first information Secretary Stimson had of the goat's arrival, however, was in the nature of an appeal from army men at the old white house stable to "come do something about his goat."

Investigation by the secretary's office disclosed that the reference was to none other than William Hamilton Bones, thought to have been turned away from San Francisco by the department of agriculture under quarantine restrictions.

Billy had started to "clean house" when a friendly quartermaster sergeant approached him. He probably will be transferred to Mr. Stimson's new home in Washington when the secretary moves in this fall.

Deny Hoover Will Ask For Funds For School

Washington.—(AP)—Associates of President Hoover deny he plans a general appeal to the public for funds with which to build and equip a schoolhouse for children living in the mountains in the region of his fishing camp on the Rapidan river in Virginia.

Instead, the chief executive proposes to supply the $1,200 or $1,600 needed from his personal funds, or with the help of a small circle of intimate friends. When the president's interest in these neglected mountain folk was revealed several days ago Mr. Hoover was quoted as having expressed a willingness to head a national committee to raise the school funds. It was generally supposed then that the public would be asked to contribute.

BUSINESSMAN MUST BE ABLE TO READ HEADS

how to classify students they will enter some course to which they are not particularly adapted, and becoming discouraged will soon leave high school.

The day is coming, Mr. Wisehaupt predicted, when character analysis will be a part of the executive staff in every school. The curriculum will be so changed that these men can put students in classes in which they are fitted.

Mr. Wisehaupt picked three men from the audience to illustrate the three types of characters. He showed how their physical features determine the kind of lives they are best fitted for.

He also picked at random several people from the audience and analyzed their characters by their physical features.

Mr. Wisehaupt gave several examples of people he had helped to find proper places in life as a result of character analysis. Misses and people who get into the wrong niches have nothing to blame except their inability to read characters, he said.

On Thursday night Mr. Wisehaupt will discuss individuals. The topic of his lecture is "Inspired or Expired."

COUNCIL TURNS TO PARK BOARD ABOUT ZOO IMPROVEMENT

Refers $4,000 Appropriation to Body for Recommendation

Appropriation of $4,000 for construction of buildings to house animals at Alicia park zoo, proposed by the building and grounds committee, Wednesday night was referred by the common council to the park board for recommendation.

Although the council appeared anxious to erect winter quarters for the zoo animals, it felt it should secure the park board's opinion before proceeding.

There appeared to exist some doubt as to whether the park board favors Alicia park or some other location as a permanent site for the zoo, and if the buildings are to be constructed, it was thought they should be put up on a permanent site. Some of the aldermen thought the park board might prefer that section of Pierce park south of the railroad tracks for the permanent location, because more room is available there, and because the ground is more hilly.

Upon introduction of the committee's report recommending the appropriation, Alderman McGillan spoke in support of the measure.

"If the city intends to establish a zoo, it is only proper that suitable quarters be erected for the animals," he said. "Appleton is certainly large enough to support a zoo, and I believe that the pleasure such an institution offers to adults as well as children merits the undertaking."

REFERRED TO COMMITTEE

The attitude of the park board toward a zoo has been rather reserved thus far, Mayor A. C. Rule explained, principally because of a lack of money. Mayor Rule said he believed the park board would be in accord with this proposal, in view of the fact that the project would be financed by the city.

Alderman McGillan was in favor of an immediate vote on the matter, but Alderman Mike Steinhauer moved that it be referred to the committee of the whole. It was upon the recommendation of the committee that the council referred the subject to the park board.

The council received a $5,000 claim for alleged property damage, said to have resulted from construction of the subway on E. Wisconsin-ave, from August Laabs. The claim was referred to the judiciary committee and the city attorney without comment.

Although the council had advertised three times for bids for a city dumping ground, only one bid was presented each time. The latest bid was not opened Wednesday night, however, and it appears as if the council will let the matter drop.

Installation of a new boiler for the fire and police departments, suggested by Alderman Steinhauer, was referred to the building and grounds

Exhibits and Attendance Larger Than in Previous Years, Officers Say

BY W. F. WISSET

Shawano—Approximately 6,000 people attended the Shawano County Fair Wednesday, according to Secretary Louis W. Cattau, who said that the number of exhibits and the attendance were much larger than those of previous fairs.

The township exhibits are a specialty of the Shawano fair and in variety and quality of farm products shown in each booth, the booths are exceptional and a credit to the townships that raised the products.

PROPAGANDA IS USED TO STIR ARAB TRIBES

Proclamations Blamed for Renewed Discontent in Holy Land

Jerusalem (AP)—Moslem Arabs throughout the Holy Land and the bordering states are being called upon by highly inflammatory propaganda to revolt and move against the government of Palestine.

Floods of this propaganda material were here today to have been sent from Jaffa, Haifa, Egypt, Damascus, Beirut, and Aleppo, and have been instrumental in the smouldering of renewed discontent.

One of the proclamations in circulation among the Arabs heralded a "fighters' holy war" and called upon all Arabs to help Arab insurgents in Palestine, whose condition was described in the blackest terms.

Although Jerusalem was quiet today, British troops continued their incessant clashes with bands of tribesmen who have penetrated the Palestine borders. One automobile which yesterday attempted to cross Allenby Bridge from Transjordan to Palestine was found to contain 14 rifles and 1,000 rounds of ammunition.

British military authorities immediately dispatched armored cars into Amman in an attempt to cut off the Palestine Arabs' source of arms and ammunition at its source.

Reports persisted despite official denial that skirmishes with Bedouins had occurred near Beersheba in which six native Christians were killed.

Jews, who hailed the first proclamation of the high commissioner, Sir John Chancellor, as aiding their cause, were not so joyful today over a second proclamation by the high commissioner, which announced the situation of Palestine was now under British jurisdiction to try criminal cases among both Jews and Arabs growing out of the recent disturbances.

The new proclamation said: "Since crimes of various descriptions are known to have been perpetrated by both Arabs and Jews, all offenders, without distinction of race or creed, will be brought to trial before courts set up under an ordinance enacted yesterday."

Official confirmation of fighting with Bedouins was contained in a colonial office communiqué which said:

"On Monday night a party of mounted Arabs attacked the village Taphio, two miles south of Jerusalem, which is occupied by British troops. The situation was repulsed with loss to the assailants."

"Our troops in conjunction with the Palestine police have carried out searches based on Jaffa, Bethlehem and Jerusalem, 170 arrests having been made in the neighborhood of the village of Welela, near Jerusalem. At Beisan 66 arrests have been made, including two important agitators."

Rumors continue to indicate the passage of a bill into Palestine by way of the northeastern frontier. No concerted tribal movement is believed to be taking place, but isolated marauding bands maintain unrest in that area.

"The areas of Haifa, Gaza, and Jaffa all reported quiet. Transjordan is tranquil. The whole country is patrolled systematically by aircraft."

PIE-EATING CONTEST IS FAVORED BY JUDGE
Fond Du Lac (AP)—A pie-eating contest in the courtroom, in the opinion of Judge H. M. Fellenz, would put an end to the dispute between Edward Bauer, Campbellport, and officials of a catering association.

Bauer appeared in court on a warrant charging assault and battery. The assault resulted from a dispute about some blueberry pies Bauer had agreed to furnish for a pie eating contest at the association's picnic.

Dauer said the officials refused to accept the pies when "paying crowd" failed to appear and that in the argument that ensued he "might have pulled somebody's necktie."

Judge Fellenz offered to have two juicy pies in court to allow the complaining witness and the defendant "have it out" in gustatorial combat. The offer has not as yet been accepted.

PASSES FOR BASEBALL PLAYER; JUDGE LENIENT
New York (AP)—Magistrate Albert H. Vitale's big mistake was in forgetting that the famous twirler Mordecai (three fingered) Brown was no southpaw.

So when A. Dr. Brown, hailed before him for failing to pay a taxicab driver a $21.75 balance on a $100 bid, held up a left hand shy two fingers and announced he was the famed Chicago Cubs' twirler, he became sentimental and dismissed the case on Brown's promise that he would pay the balance of the taxi fare. Later the magistrate recalled that Pitcher Brown was a right hander but then it was too late to do anything about it. Dr. Brown said that since retiring from baseball he has been a druggist in Reno, Nev.

ANTIGO GOLF PRO MUST PAY ALIMONY TO WIFE
Milwaukee (AP)—John P. Sletten, 34, Antigo, golf professional has a new hazard to confront—$30 a month temporary alimony to his wife, Louise, 32.

Judge Gustave Gehrz yesterday ordered Sletten to present $15 at the office of the clerk of court twice a month or the rules committee would be after him.

After his divorce suit, charges she took care of her husband when the golf season ended but that he didn't appreciate it and was constantly getting in the rough by drinking too much.

CABBAGE EXPERTS START INSPECTION OF SHIPMENTS HERE

Three state inspectors from the department of markets arrived here Thursday to take up the work of inspecting and grading cabbage which is shipped from Appleton and other shipping centers in this vicinity. A. W. Pomerning, is the chief inspector, and he is assisted by Walter Simmond and O. G. Chambers.

HERE'S ANOTHER SCHOOL WITH TOO MANY HEADS

Prairie du Chien (AP)—School children were enjoying an enforced respite from classes today because there were more school officials than jobs.

Two superintendents, three school boards, and two sets of locks and keys for schools existed here following the action of the city council.

Technical one board ceased to function with the election of a new one last spring but its influence is felt in the three-year contract which A. O. Eagen received from it as school head. On the basis of the contract Eagen has filed an injunction against the elected board and B. F. Kennedy, his rival and holder of the keys for the new locks.

The elected school board hired Kennedy, former instructor at the Catholic university, Omaha, Neb., and ignored Eagen's claim. In his injunction complaint, Eagen claims that the city operates under a special charter whereby the council appoints the school board and that the election is void. He also claims the election was illegally conducted and that it was based on religious issues.

Heading Eagen's statement, the council Tuesday night appointed another school board, carrying over two of its former members and electing three new men.

Circuit Judge Sherman E. Smalley will hear arguments on the case sometime this week.

PATROLMAN SMELLS GAS AND SAVES 10 PERSONS

Racine (AP)—Patrolman Gustav Kelm's nose was on the honor list today.

Early this morning while patrolling his State-st beat, Patrolman Kelm smelled a peculiar odor coming from the North Shore Meat Market. Calling two other policemen, Kelm roused 10 persons in the apartments above the market and saved them from possible death by refrigerating gas.

The gas had seeped into the apartments from the meat market. When the people were aroused; they staggered about their rooms and complained of illness. All were revived outside.

Those in the building were Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Yanny, Mr. and Mrs. Nels Frederickson, their son and two roomers, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Howe and their two-year-old daughter.

COUPLE "BEATING WAY" ON TRAINS ARRESTED

Tuscola, Ill. (AP)—Wearing a man's clothes and riding freights with a 20-year-old male companion brought Orthia Gilbertson, 17, of Virginia, Minn., to the county jail today. She and John Roscoe of Terra Haute, Ind., were arrested last yesterday. She at first maintained they were married last year in Minnesota, but later admitted they were not wedded. Roscoe is held on charges of violating the Mann act. The girl will be sent back to Virginia, Minn.

BEE STINGS WOMAN; CAR RUNS INTO DITCH

Startled when stung by a bee as she was driving from Milwaukee to Appleton, Mrs. George Utz, 620 E. Franklin-st., lost control of her car south of Oshkosh Wednesday afternoon and ran into an open field. Mrs. Utz was severely bruised, and her car was practically demolished.

After her car left the road, Mrs. Utz had presence of mind enough to aim for an open space between a telephone pole and a tree. Though the distance between the two was only about 10 feet she guided her car through. The machine struck a stone in an open field.

BUILDING COMMITTEE ALLOWS $1,500 BILLS

Members of the county building and grounds committee allowed bills totaling $1,500 at a special meeting Wednesday afternoon at the courthouse. Other routine business matters were transacted. On Thursday afternoon the committee, with the sanatorium committee and the sanatorium trustees, will hold a joint meeting to make arrangements for some changes in the addition being erected at Riverview sanatorium.

UNABLE TO FIND MISSING PLANE

Reports of Discovery of Wrecked Machine Remain Unconfirmed

any of his mail carriers had reported sighting the wreck, Beck announced that he would make "no change for the present in our previous official statement quoting this (the Santa Fe) report until further investigation establishes whether there is any basis for it."

DOUBT REPORT NOW

Beck declared, however, that "we are beginning to doubt the authenticity of the report given us." He reiterated that company officials here had no definite information from its own search for the facts.

The Pera operator communicated today with Superintendent Collins of the Transcontinental Air Transport in Gallup, N. M., the Winslow dispatcher said, and reiterated that he yesterday had passed along a report, for delivery to T. A. T. officials, that the plane had been seen.

The dispatcher quoted the Pera man as saying that he had received the report that was received by his wife, from a driver of a school bus in the Zuni Indian reservation. The woman, who was in Gallup, N. M., transmitted the information to her husband, the dispatcher said.

T. A. T. offices here also announced that information had come to them from Gallup that the Pera operator had reiterated his story.

Pera consists chiefly of a railroad station and two or three houses. It had no telephone connections and no means of communication except Santa Fe lines. On the basis of the newly reiterated report two T. A. T. planes, two army planes and ten commercial ships left Winslow this morning to fly over the terrain in which it was believed the big plane might be hidden.

The T. A. T. tri-motored transports were to fly the north side of the Santa Fe railroad, as far as old Fort Defiance, the most northwesterly point in which a plane resembling the City of San Francisco was reported seen in the air Tuesday, the day the ship dropped from sight.

PLANES SEARCH COUNTRY

The army ships, piloted by Lieut. Kenneth Barnes and Lieut. John Bodie were searching south of Gallup and westward toward Houck, Ariz., while the smaller commercial planes were criss-crossing the painted desert, east of Winslow. Natural coloring of the painted desert is such that it is almost invisible upon it.

A telephone call from a banker in Gallup, to the T. A. T. in Winslow, brought information that an Indian runner had reported at Gallup this morning that he had seen a plane go down in Carbon Wash which the banker said was south of Gallup.

Whether this was a repetition of an Indian runner report received from the Zuni reservation last night, and believed to involve a plane flown by Early Gordon, with Lindsay Gillis, of Los Angeles, as a passenger, the banker did not know.

Virtually all T. A. T. officials who previously had been directing the search from Winslow proceeded to Gallup today.

At 6 o'clock Thursday morning the thermometer registered 72 degrees above zero while at noon the thermometer stood at 76 degrees above. Winds are shifting in the southwest and west.

EASE OF RELIGION REGRETTED BY BISHOP

Green Bay (AP)—Bishop H. Lester Smith of Chattanooga, Tenn., today decried the trend of churches to make religion easy and to obliterate the sacrificial elements that are the foundation of Christianity. In a speech delivered before the 83rd annual Wisconsin Conference of Methodist Churches.

Bishop Smith said the "easy religion" was diverting people from the true Christian religion and exhorted his listeners to keep the cross as the symbol of Christianity.

The conference was formally opened at a banquet last night by Dr. Richard Evans, district superintendent. Mayor John W. Diener welcomed the conference to Green Bay and Dr. Enoch Terry of Milwaukee, in responding, recalled that the first conference was held here in 1894 and two others in 1903 and 1920. Dr. E. B. Mossman, Sioux City, delivered the opening talk at the banquet.

Approximately 150 ministers gathered for the convention today. The conference will end Sunday night.

Three teams are working on the project, each taking a section of the College-ave business district.

Congress Today

Senate Wednesday: Amended Republican tariff bill reported in senate, but debate deferred.

Senator Simmons, speaking for Democratic minority, said that lack of minority report was not to be taken as meaning his party was not "thoroughly opposed" to the tariff bill.

Senator Blaine, Republican, Wisconsin, introduced resolution to make corporation income tax returns available to members of congress during pendency of tariff bill.

Resolutions seeking negotiation of a new peace treaty, additional relief for southern states and investigation of method of selecting federal grand jurors in South Carolina introduced by Senator Bleasie, Democrat, South Carolina.

Investigation of activities of William B. Scheerer, ship buildings agent, at unsuccessful Geneva Naval disarmament conference of 1927 promised by Chairman Hale of senate naval committee.

Nominations of eight members of farm board and three new diplomatic officers submitted to senate by President Hoover along with batch of other appointments.

Chairman McNary called meeting of senate agriculture committee for Friday to take up farm board nominations.

Thursday: Senate met at noon to begin debate on tariff bill; no committee meetings scheduled.

DEMOCRATS MAKE NEW TARIFF MEASURE MOVE

Washington (AP)—A Democratic move to ascertain the income tax returns of corporations and other organizations handling commodities which would benefit under the pending tariff bill was initiated in the senate today by Senator Simmons of North Carolina, senior minority member of the finance committee.

He offered a resolution to direct the committee, which is in charge of the tariff measure in the senate, to request from the treasury information on the profits and losses of such corporations, organizations and individuals affected by the proposed legislation as disclosed in income tax returns for the last seven years.

Simmons sought immediate consideration, but Senator Watson of Indiana, the Republican leader, objected and after brief debate the proposal went over until Monday at which time it was decided to start debate on the tariff bill.

EDISON'S CONDITION "ABOUT THE SAME"

West Orange, N. J. (AP)—The condition of Thomas A. Edison, 82-year-old inventor, was described as "about the same" by his physicians today. The following bulletin was issued at 10 a. m.:

"During the past 24 hours Mr. Edison has been resting comfortably. The oppressive weather seems to have slightly retarded his improvement. His condition, however, is as good as could be expected in view of the grave illness he has so recently experienced."

The bulletin was signed by Dr. Hubert S. Howe.

REPORT MOVE TO PUT SMITH INTO SENATE

New York (AP)—The New York World says today that a quiet movement has been started to place former Governor Alfred E. Smith in the United States Senate and thus keep him in the national political limelight for eventualities.

With this in view, says the newspaper, suggestions have been made to confidants of Mayor Walker that he appoint United States Senator Royal S. Copeland chairman of the proposed city sanitation commission. Governor Roosevelt would then be called upon to appoint Smith to fill Copeland's unexpired term in the senate.

The World says that Senator Copeland, who is now in Europe, is anxious to retain his senate seat but that strong pressure would be brought to break upon him to undertake the city sanitation commission works as a public duty. The chairmanship of the sanitation commission is slated to receive $25,000 a year. A senator receives $10,000. Copeland was a former city health commissioner.

The bill for creation of a city sanitary commission has passed the municipal assembly and has been signed by Mayor Walker. It will be voted on at the next municipal election.

PANTAGES TRIAL MAY BE DRAWN OUT

Defense to Make Cause of Man's Death Big Issue in Proceedings

Los Angeles (AP)—Prospects for a long drawn out legal battle seemed certain today as the tedious process of choosing a jury to try Mrs. Alexander Pantages, wife of the wealthy theater magnate, on a murder charge, entered its third day in superior court here.

The defendant was taking a strong hand in this selection as both the prosecution and the defense exhausted half their preemptory challenges and a second panel of veniremen was called. Mrs. Pantages is charged by the state with being under the influence of liquor and reckless driving in connection with an automobile accident June 15 which resulted in the death of Joe Rokumoto.

The theater operator's wife held whispered consultation with her three attorneys yesterday when the opportunity to challenge one of the talesmen presented itself.

With two days of the trial left behind, the plans of the defense became more clearly defined. Max Steiner, New York criminal lawyer, conducting Mrs. Pantages' case, revealed that the exact cause of Rokumoto's death would be an issue in the defense.

Questioning by defense attorneys also indicated that they would try to show that Mrs. Pantages had been suffering from a nervous condition and that Rokumoto might have been negligent. They further indicated that they would stress the fact that Rokumoto might have died from the effects of an operation performed immediately after the crash.

In the face of the defense plans, Deputy District Attorney James P. Costello, admitted last night that Mrs. Pantages was under the observation of alienists to preclude any attempt by her attorneys to claim insanity. He further announced that a prosecution witness, previously reported missing, had been located, and would serve as a valuable link in their chain of witnesses.

TREASURE HUNTER IS KILLED IN MEXICO

Mexico City (AP)—An excelsior dispatch from Tepic, Jalisco, Oaxaca, today said enraged inhabitants of that place killed one treasure hunter and forced three others to flee when they began excavating the inside of an abandoned church for gold said to have been left there hundreds of years ago by Spanish priests.

When the treasure hunters arrived in the town and started excavating the townsmen, feeling the venture constituted a sacrilege, refused to sell them food. Later food was brought them on a mule, the townsmen using the occasion to attack them.

At a hearing here yesterday, A. J. Spencer, treasurer of Bridge Creek town, Eau Claire-co, was bound over on $5,000 bond, which he was unable to raise.

Spencer said the money had been burned in a fire which took place in his car when he essayed to fill the tank with gasoline while the motor was running.

An hour later, with his belt as a noose, he had hanged himself. "The little girl he ran down, it developed, was only slightly bruised."

The other, unknown to police, was identified after considerable confusion as Eddie Westcott.

Milwaukee (AP)—Two male "September Morns" were too realistic to be art, a police court in Waukegan, a suburb, ruled today, and John Gore, a bather, was fined $1, and Frank Nowak, Milwaukee, $5. The men had gone bathing in Lake Michigan without the formality of suits.

CURB UTILITIES MAKE GOOD GAINS

Other Issues Are Slow and Trend of Market Is Irregular

New York (AP)—Operations for the advance were resumed with renewed vigor in several of the leading utilities on the Curb exchange today, but fitful selling was again in evidence in other parts of the list, and price trends were again highly irregular.

The huge increase of more than $400,000,000 in stock exchange member loans during August, persistent firmness in call money, and the precautionary tenor of many commission house letters, prompted considerable liquidation.

Consolidated Share, American and Foreign Power, Warrants, and Electric Investors all sold up 5 points or so by early afternoon. St. Regis Paper jumped several points in response to the proposal to split up the stock and to offer rights.

American Superpower was again in demand, and rumors of negotiations for some sort of an alignment with Bond and Share interests were again common talk in Wall Street. Associated General and Electric once again reached new high ground.

Allied Power, however, was again under pressure, and United Gas Improvement was sluggish. Commonwealth and Southern sagged slightly, and Niagara Hudson moved in narrow range.

In the industrials, Lair Liquide, which has had a sharp rise since its recent listing on this market, tumbled back several points in profit taking. American Cyanamid, representing its appearance on the Curb, Ford of France, which changed hands around 13. Aluminum Co. was again strong, rising several points.

Transcontinental Air Transport sold down more than a point to the vicinity of its low price for the year, reflecting, in part, the loss of one of its planes in New Mexico. A new air transport stock to appear was that of the New York, Rio and Buenos Aires line, which traded around 19.

Reliance Management was brought forward as a leader of the investment trusts, rising more than 5 points to a new high. Matthew S. Sloan, president of New York Edison, was recently placed on the board. National Investors encountered some profit taking, but Third National rose more than 5 points to a new peak. Blue Ridge, settlement for which, totaling more than $130,000,000, must be made tomorrow, was again sluggish.

Oil trusts heavy on the weekly crude production figures, such issues as Gulf, Cosden, Vacuum, and Humble losing a point or two. Mines moved in a narrow range.

THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS
The assembly of the League of Nations is in session at Geneva. The League is now ten years old. If Americans could forget the prejudices of politics and the feelings aroused by the Versailles treaty and could go back to ten years before the war with an institution like the League to appraise, they would have to admit that it was an altogether remarkable situation in world affairs. It may be less remarkable today, but it is fully as important.

The League of Nations has changed the whole course of international relations. It is not merely the numerous concrete achievements it has realized for the stability and peace of the world that make its creation an outstanding event. Of even larger significance is the fact that it continually assembles practically all the nations about a conference table for the frank and open discussion of every phase of international affairs. The mere fact that the League exists, and functions as it does is of supreme value. In time it will put a finish to all secret and sinister diplomacy. It is moving more definitely toward that end each year. It is helping to give validity to peace treaties, and engagements.

Excluding the aftermath of fireworks in the Balkans following the Armistice there has been no war since the League was established, and there is no prospect of any. It is a record without parallel. At no time in the history of the world have the guarantees of peace been so great as they are at this moment. Instead of being a super-government, as demagogic politicians asserted, the League turns out to be a vast round table for the discussion of international differences and problems, and a tribunal whose decisions and debates carry enormous moral influence.

At the session of the assembly which has just started at Geneva, important matters touching the interests of the United States are to be considered. One of these is the Root formula for bringing about American participation in the world court. It is expected the results will be favorable and that the way will be prepared for American adherence on conditions acceptable to the other signatories. If this occurs it will be another notable accomplishment to the League's credit.

Another subject for discussion is the Kellogg pact, which Britain may ask to have indorsed as a supplementary part of the League covenant. Finally, prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald has made the all-important announcement that Great Britain and the United States have reached an agreement on all but three of the twenty points covered in the negotiations between the two nations on the question of naval power, and that he expects complete accord before the session's close.

Mr. MacDonald has made the meeting an occasion for an earnest and distinguished plea for international peace and disarmament, a plea that cannot fail to have its effect throughout the world, and which will practically insure a five-power understanding on naval strength once London and Washington are in unison. At no previous time has such an agency existed where great issues and great plans touching the welfare, progress and security of all humanity could be subjected to open international consideration and action. We are apt to shut our eyes to the big and essential things and to concentrate attention upon trivialities and details. All that has been charged against the League, and with so little foundation, is as a molehill to a mountain in comparison with what it is doing, what it signifies and what it promises.

PERPETUAL GOOD TIMES
The Federal Reserve Board, basing its conclusions on data collected throughout the country, reports that the business world has been enjoying unusually good times.

July industrial production was higher than in any corresponding month in recent years, though slightly less than in any July since 1926.
The United States seems to have developed the habit of prosperity and to go on and on without serious relapse. Good sense in thought and action should maintain this condition almost indefinitely. Fearful pessimism or over-expansive optimism might upset it.

PEACE IN THE FAR EAST
China and Russia have decided not to fight after all. To the general surprise China receded from its extreme position and conceded the Soviet demand for restoration of the Chinese Eastern railway to a status quo ante as a preliminary condition to conference for peaceful settlement of the Manchurian railway dispute. This means that the Russian manager will be reinstated or a new one appointed in his place and that Russian employees will return to their posts. The Soviet on its part has agreed to stop entirely propaganda through its railroad footing in Manchuria. Since it was this propaganda which precipitated Chinese expulsion of the Russians, the agreement for general negotiations would seem to rest on a fair basis.

How the negotiations will end no one can predict, but the trouble has revealed an evident purpose on the part of China to rid itself of the Russian influence and menace in Manchuria. Whether this can be obtained peacefully by purchase of the Chinese Eastern railway under an option which China possesses, or whether it is to be accomplished by force is for the future to determine. In all probability the solution will be peaceful.

Ten years ago and certainly twenty years ago an issue like that which caused China and Russia to sever diplomatic relations would have produced war. Today war on a large scale which menaces the general peace has become exceedingly difficult. The demands for peace and the machinery with which to maintain and enforce it have become so powerful as to be almost irresistible. Militarists, isolationists and super-nationalists still pooh-pooh the efficacy of treaties, agreements and agencies created in the cause of peace, but the fact remains that they are proving their value and are preventing wars. It is due precisely to this atmosphere and situation that war has been averted between China and Russia.

SPEED IN THE ARCTIC
A steamer leaving Tacoma recently for the Far North carried 100 outboard racing motors. They were said to be intended for Alaskan Indians.

The simple kayak, built of rawhide and paddled like a canoe, one of the most picturesque and efficient boats ever invented, has vanished. It is too primitive and slow for the northern natives. The speed mania has reached them, and they must have roaring motors. Soon, no doubt, the Eskimos will be having outboard motor races.

This is progress—but not peace. There is no more rest cure even in the Arctic waters. For quietness, people will soon have to go to deep forests and mountain tops. And there will probably be airplanes roaring there.

STABLE WAGES
One of the most remarkable features of the present industrial period, says the National Industrial Conference board, is the stability of wage rates. Business activity may fluctuate, but wages do not fluctuate with it as they did formerly. Men may be temporarily out of jobs; but when they are, they seldom have to take wage cuts to get employment again.

It may be that this stability of wages is one of the big reasons for the stability of business prosperity. As long as workers have good pay, the spending and consuming power of the nation is sustained. Employers, realizing this more clearly than they used to, seldom try any more to cut wages.

Seen And Heard In New York

"The time has come," the Walrus said,
"To talk of many things—
"Of shoes and ships and sealing wax,
"Of cabbages and kings."
BY RICHARD MANSOOCK
New York—The marketing of many things familiar to the American family has become a billion dollar business controlled by three great stockholding corporations.
Yeast and candy, coffee and cigars are in the hands of Wall Street bankers, although the stock, theoretically at least, is owned by investors throughout the country.
The time has come when dividends depend on what the housewife serves for dessert and what brand of claret she and her husband smoke after dinner.

BIG BUSINESS PRODUCTS
Yeast, malt products, baking powder, vinegar, gelatin, salad dressing, spices, coffee and tea are products of J. I. Morgan and Company, which through Thomas Cochran, a Morgan partner, helped organize Standard Brands, Inc.
Coffee and coffee substitutes, coconut, chocolate, salad dressing, salt, baking powder, washing powder, syrup, starch, gelatin, breakfast foods, and cake flour are products gathered together under the mythical banner of the General Food corporation, which grew out of the Postum company.
Cigarettes, cigars, pipes, safety razors, canned foods, soda fountains and automatic vending machines are the wares of the United States corporation, born of the chain tobacco stores.
The stock of Standard Brands is valued at more than $475,000,000, that of the General Food corporation at $375,000,000 and that of the United States at $160,000,000, a grand total of well over $1,000,000,000.

The newest of these enterprises is United Stores, which recently acquired control of Tobacco Products corporation, United Cigar Stores, the United Tobacco company, and allied concerns. Their holdings include some 2,200 cigar stores and 260 drug stores, as well as a chain of candy and another of novelty stores.

FAMILIAR NAMES PASSING
The day when big interests were identified with individuals seems about gone.
The late C. M. Post gave his name to the Postum company, yet the president always has been C. M. Chester, Jr.
George J. Whelan, who came from Syracuse, N. Y., to found the United Cigar stores in 1901, has not been active in their management since 1913, although he remains a substantial stockholder in the new United stores.
The president of Fleischman Yeast is not Max C. Fleischman, the founder's heir, but Joseph Willshire.
The modern kings of industry are men like George K. Morrow, president of United Stores, and his brother, Frederick K. bankers and re-organizers of soap and flour milling properties, or Thomas H. McInerney, a director of the new corporation, who built National Dairy Products from a single store in Chicago.

BIGGER BRAND FAMILIES
An even greater concentration of stock holding in the manufacturers of widely advertised products is indicated by unofficial statements among the men of Wall Street.
United Stores is said to acquire "substantial minority interests in several well-known and allied businesses." Whether these are in the drug, grocery or notions line, the organizers decline to say. Whatever the line, however, the purpose officially is said to be retail price reduction.

Today's Anniversary

CONTINENTAL CONGRESS
On Sept. 5, 1774, the first Continental Congress met in Carpenter Hall, Philadelphia.
Fifty-five delegates, representing all of the colonies, except Georgia, attended the first assembly. They represented a population of 2,200,000.
Resolutions from various sections of the country, stating their wrongs, were presented to the congressmen and a petition to the British king (the declaration of rights and grievances) was ordered, assuring him that by abolishing the system of laws and regulations of which the colonies complained, harmony would be restored.
"We ask but for peace, liberty and safety," the petition stated. "We wish not a diminution of the prerogative, nor do we solicit the grant of any new right in our favor. Your royal authority over us and our country is not in question. We shall always carefully and zealously endeavor to support and maintain."
The resolutions bound the colonies to a common resistance to acts of force against all, or any one of them. The representatives agreed that another congress should be held within a month unless the redress of grievances which they desired was obtained before that time.
The first Continental Congress adjourned Oct. 26, after a secret session of 51 days.

THE CARE OF THE INSANE
From England comes this interesting communication:
William Brady, M. D.
Dear Sir:
About March last, when I was held in North—mental prison, I addressed a letter to you, which I believed was stopped by authority. The incident, as nearly as I remember it, was as follows:
Blank, the day chief came round—ward with salts (weekly dose). I said to him "Salts are injurious to the blood; do you know that?" He replied "Oh, no, they're not." I read to him from a cutting from your column under a caption bearing your name these words: "It is a notorious fact that salts are injurious to the blood." He said "That newspaper doesn't know anything about it—like you." Those are the exact words, to the best of my memory.
I wrote those words in a letter addressed to you, and asked you to forward the letter to your paper for their information. As far as I remember I handed the letter to—(last, sup.) as was my custom for censorship.
If you are interested and care to go further into the question of the treatment of so-called mental cases by the law I shall be glad to answer any questions I can. I am presenting the case of the "patients" to the public as I see it, and am advocating, as the next reform, removal of censorship of patients' letters, or rather that governments should advise hospital authorities to pass out all letters unread and without seals unbroken.
Though the doctors use force on me I do not advocate the use of force upon them (legal or any other). We must trust God and teach the doctors. Except for the prison bars and the inoculations and salts and regulations generally, I was treated with gentleness, forbearance and consideration.
I trust that you will give publicity to my appeal for the public to investigate and to give better consideration to the so-called "patients," and also advise the public against using legal force to secure the dismissal or control of the doctors. We should trust the doctors, but they should be educated, and advised continually, and watched.
(Signed) .....
Copy sent to the Superintendent of the N. P.—mental prison.
I don't know whether the institution is for insane criminals or just for the treatment of the insane. The letter is sane enough in every respect. In fact it is an effective bit of pleading; at least it makes me feel, for the first time, that perhaps the letters from insane patients ought to be passed out unopened. Still, if we ought to trust the doctors we should not hesitate to place such censorship in their hands. The difficulty about that is the impossibility of personal censorship in a large institution—the doctor must delegate the duty to employees or assistants, and these are not always to be trusted as a doctor is trusted.
Any one who has read that ingenious and amusing story "The Specacles of Dr. Cagliostro," especially if the reader has had any professional experience in the commitment of incompetents to hospitals for the insane or as an examiner in lunacy, cannot help feeling some sympathy for the victim who thinks he is unjustly confined in such an institution. The very fact that he is an inmate of the place damns him in the minds of all his jailers, including the doctors in authority. A doctor goes on the assumption that a doctor can do no wrong, so if a lunacy commission or a psychiatrist has found the patient belongs in the hospital, the patient must be a wizard indeed to raise any serious doubts about the

A BYSTANDER IN WASHINGTON
BY HERBERT PLUMMER
Washington—Few men can serve in the cabinet of two presidents, guide the destiny of a great political party and still be as little known as Dr. Hubert Work.
Early in September Dr. Work relinquishes the chairmanship of the republican national committee. Previously he has been postmaster general and secretary of the interior. Yet this fall, quiet and cordial man goes back to private life one of the least generally known men ever to figure in national affairs.
Minor government employees in Washington know him as the man who took out all the clocks in the interior department when he became secretary because of his contempt for "clock watchers."
Newspapermen know him as the fellow who always talks straight to the point, knows how to smile, and can appreciate a good joke.
His colleagues know him as the man who works tirelessly, one who can labor like a demon from morning until night and appear the next day with eyes clear and bright with no show of strain.
WAS PROMINENT PHYSICIAN
But little else is known of Dr. Work in Washington.
His selection by President Hoover as chairman of the republican national committee came as a surprise. He is totally unlike any other who ever held the post. In the first place, he is one of the few members of the medical profession ever to hold high political office. And he is one of the oldest men ever to head a national committee.
Dr. Work was a practicing physician 25 years before he entered politics. For 20 years he was connected with the Woodcroft hospital for mental diseases, which he founded, at Pueblo, Colo. He is a past president of the American Medical Association and the American Medico-Psychological society.
During the war he supervised the medical features of the draft and now holds a commission as colonel in the army reserve corps.
It was from the lips of Dr. Work that newspapermen first learned of President Harding's illness. He was with Harding to the end, lending his skill to that of the White House physicians.
Through his whole career as a public official the "doctor" in him has come to the front. Here is one of the remarks typical of him:
"... But the colorings of vice are pathologic, and morals, like diseased tissues under the microscope, are more apparent than stained."
IS WELL NAMED
Born a son of farmer parents, Dr. Work spent all of his youth on a farm in Pennsylvania. The Works were not wealthy, and it was with money saved from odd jobs that he sent himself through college and medical school.
He has never been known to have a favorite diversion unless it is to work and to have those associated with him do the same. It is his vocation, his hobby, his life.
There are few men more cordial than Dr. Work. It is easy for him to make friends wherever he goes and easier for him to hold them. President Coolidge was his warm personal friend and often relied on Dr. Work for advice.
Now past 69 years of age, he could easily pass as a man 10 or 15 years younger. He looks forward to retirement and has emphatically stated that he is not in the field for public office.
After his retirement as chairman of the republican committee he plans to remain in Washington for a while and then go to the Rocky mountains for a long rest.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
It is a Very Tough Hide
Even you newspaper doctors do not agree. You claim nothing can penetrate the unbroken skin. But Dr. Brady claims that drugs can get into the skin by mixing with the grease and then being picked up by the blood. He points out that mercury had been given in this way for many years. He further claims that any substance that dissolves grease, such as gasoline, ether or benzol, can be taken into the body thru the skin. (S. L. S.)
Answer—Yes, I know he claims such things. But he can't cite any scientific evidence to support the idea. Nor dare he or any other physician accept my challenge to prove the thing by properly controlled scientific experiment upon my body. I am ready at any time to submit to applications of any such substance, provided my skin shall not be broken, and I shall have unpolluted air to breathe thruout the duration of the experiment. The newspaper doctor who claims some drugs or substances are absorbed thru the skin holds a brief for a band of physicians who have fallen into error about the matter and are too narrow and stiff-necked to acknowledge that this old medical tradition was wrong. Of course mercury has been administered by inunction for many years, but it isn't being done now to speak of today for the very reason that you never can tell how much or how little of the drug the patient may absorb thru inhalation of the mercury volatilized by friction and warmth. Don't let your newspaper medical friend mislead you about that.
Lupus
Do you know of any hospitals in the United States that treat lupus so as to guarantee curing the disease? (Miss V. O. A.) Answer—Doctors treat lupus in every hospital, if the condition is so severe as to require hospitalization. No honest physician, specialist, hospital or institution can guarantee to cure anything. On the face of it any guarantee of that sort stamps the guarantor as a humbug. Sunbaths, ultraviolet ray (not "violet ray") radium, tuberculin, and X-ray, are used in various cases with satisfactory results. In most cases proper treatment brings about arrest of the disease.
Cistern Water Has Odor
Because of the scarcity of water in our country we rely much on an outside cistern with a pump in the kitchen. But this water has an unpleasant odor. Is there any way to deodorize it? It looks black. It is rain water. The cistern holds a hundred barrels. It seems a shame not to be able to use it. (C. B. L.)
Answer—Copper sulphate is perhaps the best thing to deodorize the water. Dissolve two ounces of copper sulphate in a pall of the water, and mix it in thoroughly with all the water in the cistern.

Lieutenant Lund, one of the stunt flyers who did an outside loop during the national air races at Cleveland, used to be a broncho buster. He found it pretty dangerous, however.

FLASHES FROM HOLLYWOOD
BY ROBBIN COONS
Hollywood—Ole Man River, Father Mississippi himself, is relinquishing none of the talkie honors he garnered in "Show Boat."
At least six other talkies now preparing, completed, or on exhibition use the turbulent muddy stream as a background for all or part of their drama.
"The Mississippi gambler," Joseph Schildkraut's first starring talkie, will present the Gaylord Ravenal of "Show Boat" in a somewhat similar role, but it is the only one of the six which gives the Ole Man title credit.
Old southern "chivalry" is burlesqued in "River of Romance," with a riverside plantation, a river boat, and a river port gambling den as its principal settings.
Then there is "Cameo Kirby," made some years ago as a silent picture, now being revived as a talker with J. Harold Murray in the title role and Norma Terris, star of Ziegfeld's "Show Boat" and of the screen operetta, "Married in Hollywood," "Kirby" by the way, goes into production as soon as Miss Terris, who was recently married (but in Beverly Hills, not in Hollywood) to a prominent New York physician, returns from her one-month honeymoon.
THE FLOWING STAR
Any picture entitled "New Orleans Frolics" will bring in the Mississippi as a matter of course and the two special all-negro-cast pictures, "Hearts in Dixie" and King Vidor's "Hallelujah" with their southern settings, naturally do not neglect America's stellar stream.
It yet remains, however, for some company to dramatize a Mississippi flood in the talkies—and imagine the "sound effect" possible with a huge crevasse!

SICK LISTS
Sharing the fate of Mary Nolan, who time and again has been forced to relinquish choice roles because of illness, Marie Prevost is out of the cast of "Night Parade," being replaced by Aileen Fringle.
Miss Fringle is making her first movie appearance since her release by M-G-M and in the interval has been getting in trim for talkie work by playing on the Los Angeles stage.
Another actress, by the way, whose career has been halted temporarily by misfortune, is Anna Q. Nilsson, an accident some time ago having incapacitated her.
Hollywood's celebrities can't afford to neglect their "apple a day."

NATIONAL DOCTORS' MEET TO DISCUSS LIVING CONDITIONS

New York Academy of Medicine Calls Seminar to Consider Remedies

BY LEMUEL F. PARTON
Copyright 1929 by Cons. Press
New York—Along with the aftermath of Labor day, with 89 deaths throughout the nation and the popular just beginning to pull out of a slumber of heat, nerves, sunburn, dogs, automobiles, comes the news that the New York Academy of Medicine is summoning the doctors of the country to a national seminar, to see what can be done to make life endurable under present-day conditions.

There are more patients in American hospitals suffering from nervous and mental disorders than from all other diseases combined. It is this fact which has led the physicians to study basic problems of wear and tear on the individual, geared into the race and opinion of modern progress, and to make it possible for America to enjoy its industrial plenitude outside of an insane asylum. They find that it costs $10,000,000 a year to maintain institutions for nervous and mental disorders, and that such disorders use an annual economic loss of $60,000,000.

The physicians' forum, to which other and social workers from the nation are invited, will be the second annual graduate fortnight, to be held in New York Oct. 7 to 19, under the auspices of the academy, will be the first notable meeting of American physicians concentrating on studies of psychiatry and mental hygiene, with "functional and nervous problems" as the general heading of the conference.

It is interesting to observe that a ninth international conference of psychology, now being held at Yale university, has moved further toward the field of medicine than at its previous session—seeking a logical basis of its fledgling science and that the doctors, in their preliminary announcements, of their reference on neuroses, are apparently making slight penultimations in the direction of psychology. Whether this foreshadows another of those mergers, with a split up and purchase rights for preferred stockholders, may not yet be determined, but, in certain fields of research, the physicians and the psychologists have found common ground, and this year has marked an unprecedented scientific attack on mental and nervous disorders.

OVER CROWDING
The year has also revealed the fact at New York, as well as in other states, there has been disclosed a shocking over-crowding in institutions for mental patients and general backwardness in institutional treatment of such diseases. At the time, there has been a renewed widespread professional interest in the possibility of "psychiatric care," for the segregation of criminal criminals, with numerous movements to establish such clinics in connection with court procedure. While psychiatrists have been to the fore in these activities, medical men have joined them. They have and ground for agreement in the notion that it is emotional aberrations, rather than mental deficiencies, which account for a large portion of criminality and social fitness. It is human emotions which science is now trading with seven league boots. Both doctors and psychiatrists have found that adult with a ten-year mentality is by a fairly useful citizen, but at, over or under-emotionalized, he becomes a dangerous criminal. While not even in this mechanized age can the doctors adjust the emotions as one adjusts a carburetor, they are groping toward a technique of emotional therapy, which may have a profound effect, not only on a cure of mental disorders, but on social attitudes and responses with regard to crime and mental disorder. This is the background of the forthcoming national conference.

STILL GUARDED
While materia medica is still cautiously quarantined from heresies, the Doctor Morris Fishbein and others guarding the gate, it is interesting to note an increasing cathexis of mind with regard to such archaic as those of the behaviorists, unsanctioned and unhallowed few years ago. The Freudian analysis was never quite accepted by the American Medical profession, and is now only cautiously and stantly used, but behaviorism

CLOSE THEATRE FOR $100,000 REPAIRS

Expect to Start Remodeling Work as Soon as Plans Are Completed

Brin's Appleton Theatre closed on Monday evening for an indefinite period, during which time it will be completely remodeled and repaired. The total cost of renovation and redecoration probably will be in the neighborhood of $100,000, according to word received here. Work will be started as soon as plans and specifications are completed.

The balcony will be remodeled and new seats will be installed both in the balcony and on the main floor. When completed the theatre will have an intimate seating capacity of 1,000.

A new front is to be installed and new stage and dressing rooms will be provided for. Other improvements also will be added.

seems to be capturing the inner citadels of the profession. The announcement, of addresses for the graduates' fortnight shows that behaviorism has made its way into medical terminology. In a preface to his address, Dr. Burrill B. Crohn, of Mount Sinai hospital, says: "All of the accumulated personal, mental and psychic experience of the physician, all of his experiences with life, must be trained upon the individual patient presenting his or her problem. The Freudian analysis has its limited uses and more limited therapy. The behavioristic approach offers vastly more."

"Habit and Behavior Problems" will be the subject of an address by Dr. Herman M. Adler, director of the Institute for juvenile research, of Chicago. Dr. John B. Watson, formerly of Johns Hopkins University, aroused little interest among physicians when he began pioneering behaviorism in America a few years ago. Similarly, when Dr. Ivan P. Pavlov, famous Russian scientist, and originator of behavioristic studies, sent his moving picture, "Mechanics of the Brain, to America, two years ago, it was indifferently received by physicians. But, Prof. Pavlov, now attending the New Haven conference of psychologists, at the age of 82, is receiving the alert and respectful attention of American attention of American medical men. So also is Dr. James McKeen Cattell, president of the conference, whose years of profound research in behavioristic problems must inevitably contribute greatly to the "functional" studies which the physicians propose.

All of which lights up a new alertness and curiosity in the medical mind, as the background of the approaching conference. Among both medical men and psychologists this correspondent finds a newly aroused and vigorous hope that science will contribute immeasurably to the solution of pressing social problems by searching out new main springs of individual behavior.

Women Operators In Stock Market Were Considered "Reckless" 40 Years Ago

EDITOR'S NOTE: What was the world doing in the pleasant days when today's adults were youths? Forty years ago "Red" Coolidge was a student at Amherst college. A chubby-faced office boy was making good in Oregon. That was Herbert Hoover. Here is the American scene in those interesting times recorded from the transient recordings of daily happenings in a series of weekly stories.

BY ALEXANDER GEORGE

Women in almost every station of life today discuss their ventures in the stock market as freely as their sisters of a generation ago passed along the latest tidbit of gossip supplied by an itinerant dressmaker. Scandalous indeed were the under-cover operations 40 years ago of a few "reckless females" who played the market.

In Chicago, "proud queen of the prairie," there was a brokerage office run "exclusively for ladies." No man was allowed inside, and there were vague tales of the beauty and mysterious actions of its habitués.

They were women of high society, rumor had it, in whom drawing room poker had developed a taste for larger stakes—ladies of the Gold Coast bankers' and lawyers' wives, wealthy widows and daring debts. Gossip told of quivered steps in the corridor leading to the "gambling den" and of mysterious glances through heavy veils.

An interesting newspaper detailed a reporter to get an inside story of the establishment. His story, however, robbed the supposed gambling palace of much of its glamor. It was in room 6 of a building near Clark and Jackson streets. Instead of the reputed rich carpetings and costly bric-a-brac, he found a "bare floor and a cuspidor with several cigarette stubs."

Most of the patrons were middle-aged women "spinsters of uncertainty," wives of men in moderate circumstances, "playing away grocery."

The majority invested $2 or $3 at a time, although a few plungers put in $20. A little boy in a Fauntleroy

OPPOSE BONDS FOR EXHIBITION FLIGHTS

Washington—(AP)—Army fliers are becoming so expert and aircraft improvements have so dismissed the likelihood of accidents that the war department has recommended against legislation to require applicants for aerial exhibition flights to furnish bonds to insure the government against damage claims.

In disapproving the Maas bill to require exhibition flights by the Air corps and require a protective bond, the department pointed out to the house military committee that the probability of accidents from

But the times have a sound, penurious flow;

And here the world's fair will certainly be.

The big department stores were featuring sales of horse goods, a job traveling for a brewery was a sincere, transcontinental bicycling was a major sport and the American society of professors of dancing pronounced the military schottish quadrille the last word in ballroom class.

The press was trying to dispel a popular fallacy that mirrors attracted lightning and therefore should be covered or turned to the wall during a thunderstorm.

"This is pure illusion arising from the fact that mirrors reflect lightning flashes and thus add to the terror and apparent danger of the storm," it was explained.

which damage claims might arise was decreasing.

There is much general interest in the development of aircraft transportation, the letter said, and the consequent opening of new flying fields in different sections of the country has increased the demand for army and navy planes to give exhibition flights as a part of the program opening the new fields.

Temporary legislation to require bonds was passed in an appropriation bill in 1924, the department said. It added that high premiums were charged for such protection and during the whole time that the legislation was in effect there were no accidents.

The Story of Sue

by MARGERY HALE

© 1929 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

CHAPTER XI

Sue knew that she looked surprised, and Jimmy, evidently noticing it, hurried to explain.

"There's an exhibit of commercial art downtown, and I play around with advertising on the side. Grace is interested in it, too, so we're going down. Don't you want to come, Sue?"

"No thanks. If I had known sooner, but not now. I'm stepping out with Martin Clinger."

She laughed at his surprised look. "But he's not the kind of a person for you to go with, Sue. He's not — well, he's not exactly my idea of a gentleman."

His lips were thin lines and his eyes narrowed.

"But I have to get some experience with all kinds of men. And he is good looking. I can manage him, Jimmy darling. Don't worry."

She wondered if Jimmy had any idea how she dreaded to be entertained by the handsome Mr. Clinger with his roving eyes and scintillating talk.

"Have you any idea where Sarah Slade is, or who she is?" he changed the conversation abruptly, as they caught up with Mr. Merryman who had walked ahead.

"Not the slightest."

"I knew a girl by that name once — she sold perfume in a store where I worked awhile."

"Do you know where she is now?" Sue grabbed his arm excitedly.

"No idea. But she might be traced. Let's see, perhaps some other girl would remember her and know. I'll ask tomorrow."

"Jimmy, you are such an angel!" Sue reflected even while she said it, that she meant it. "Why, oh, why can't I —" She stopped suddenly.

"What she had said was 'Why can't I fall in love with you?'"

"Why can't you what?" he persisted but his eyes were smiling now.

"Oh, I don't know. I hope you and Grace enjoy the exhibit."

"We will. Grace is a great girl. I never knew before that she liked commercial art, but she talked about it all the way home."

Sue's eyes narrowed this time. Grace, who couldn't draw a straight line! She remembered how she had hurried her away from fashion designs several times.

"I think I see," Sue told herself. "When it pays to know about something it's better to learn. If a man is an acrobat, glory in a swinging trapeze, even if it makes your head swim. So Grace —"

Suddenly she didn't want Grace to see that exhibit with Jimmy. After all, Jimmy was nice and he had belonged to Sue for a long time — or had he? He had been nice to her — but she had to spend the evening with Martin Clinger and now that the office was behind her, Martin had lost his charm. If it were Jack Thornton — but it would be next time! She would show them all. Those two girls in the dressing room, Grace, Jimmy Miss Parsons, even Judge Thornton.

Her mother's voice called to her from the open door. "Hurry, Sue. You're wanted on the telephone."

NEXT: Sue turns detective.

The Tynmites

By Hal Cochran

The bull soon seemed to pick up speed and Copy said, "I fear we'll need to fight that snorting fellow. He is going to catch us, sure. I'd rather be most any where than tossed away up in the air. I hope we can avoid it, but our chance seem rather poor."

Then Scouty said, "Be quiet, please. I'm trying hard to coax and tease more speed out of this little car. I wish we'd reach a hill. Then we could whiz to beat the band. Course, goodness knows where we would land, but, anyway, that sort of ride would really be a thrill."

On went the chase for quite a spell. The bull still ran along pell-mell. The little car began to steam. This scared the bunch a bit. And shortly they heard Copy cry, "I think the radiator's dry. Our chance of ever winning now looks bad from where I sit."

"Let's all jump out and start to run. Perhaps, as soon as that is done, the little car will wreck itself and we'll be safe and sound. The bull won't know just where we are. Instead he'll likely horn the car. And, in the meantime, we will be rushing over the ground."

"Oh, goodness, no," woe Scouty cried. "I don't intend to wreck this car. We'll trust to luck instead." Then Copy shouted, "Hey! Look out. We're in for trouble now, no doubt. I don't see how we'll save ourselves. A chasm's just ahead."

They reached the chasm then and there. The auto whizzed up in the air, and for a moment all the bunch thought fate was quite unkind. But then they landed safe and sound upon another bit of ground. Their car had jumped the chasm and the bull was left behind.

(The Tynmites reach a rubber bridge in the next story.)

ALLEGED BOOTLEGGER, HANDCUFFED, DROWNS

Detroit (AP)—Handcuffed by customs officers who had arrested him for violation of the federal prohibition law, Alfred J. Smith, 63 years old Grosse Ile letter carrier, plunged into the Detroit river and was drowned shortly before last midnight.

Smith, who operated a boat livery in addition to his work as a postal employe, was arrested by customs men who said they found eight bottles of beer and a bottle of whisky in his boat house. The officers said Smith became unruly and they were forced to handcuff him. He then jumped into the river. About 40 feet off shore Smith sank, the officers said.

The body was recovered. Chief Isaac N. Smith of the Grosse Ile police said he had never known Smith to have been involved in any bootlegging operations.

COUNCIL EAGER TO ACCEPT OFFER OF $3,000 FOR BAND

Mrs. Stuart's Proposition Unanimously Indorsed by Aldermen

Neenah—The high school is to have a band if a suggestion introduced Wednesday evening at the council meeting is adopted. Mrs. Helen K. Stuart appeared before the meeting, offering the same proposition made a few weeks ago to the school board, which was turned down and that which would furnish the salary for the present school year for a capable instructor, not to exceed $3,000 and to cooperate with a group of people in raising enough more money to pay for instruments for a large band to be organized among school children from the sixth or seventh grades up through high school. Mrs. Stuart said that the board of education at this time, when its funds are being taxed for the new school, could not see the proposition at all and that a band would be at least a year off.

The proposition met with favoring the council. Alderman William Schmidt, president of the council and a member of the finance committee, moved that the city cooperate with the movement and appropriate from available funds which the city had not expected to receive and which would be forthcoming soon, enough money to the school board to assist in the organization of a band. The motion was carried unanimously and the committee on education, consisting of Aldermen Edward Hanson, John Stip and E. C. Arneemann, was instructed to attend the meeting of the school board and place the council's action before it. The proposition made by Mrs. Stuart also was unanimously accepted and if the school board favors the proposition, an instructor will be engaged to take charge of the band.

An application was presented to the council by the Brin Theatres Incorporated of Milwaukee, for permission to erect a metal and glass canopy surmounted by an electric sign in front of its theatre on E. Wisconsin-ave. The privilege was granted, the company paying $25 a year and furnishing $10,000 bond for protection against injuries or damages resulting from the sign and canopy.

The committee on police and health reported that it had met with the board of health relative to cess pools and dumping grounds in and about the city, especially the vicinity below the government dam adjacent to Theda Clark hospital property. Alderman Marten, chairman of the committee suggested that the war department be communicated with relative to placing some sort of pipe from above the dam through which water from the river could be used to flush the dried up portions of the river.

Briest, between Smith and Annis, will hereafter be designated as a one way street with entrance from Smith-st on the south. An ordinance directing this action was passed unanimously.

Sanitary sewers were authorized, on recommendation of the board of public works, on Van-st between Whitlow and Meyer-sts and on Lou-don-st, between Higgins-st and S. Commercial-st. Non-intoxicating liquor license was granted to M. J. Burkall who made application at the last council meeting, the application being taken under advisement by the committee on police and health until the September meeting. The use of cinders for patching and repairing streets is to be discontinued. Crushed stone or gravel will be used. This is the result of an experiment on several streets. The finance committee reported on bills amounting to $14,049.98 which were authorized paid.

Some time ago the tournament was offered to Neenah but at that time the school board thought the first year in the new school building was not the time to take on such activities.

The report of the committee on insurance was presented. It was decided that the board secure services of the engineers of insurance companies for the purpose of inspecting the buildings and making recommendations to reduce the cost of insurance and to submit a new blanket for 1, which will meet the requirements of adequate coverage.

The recommendation of the committee on education of the city council, relative to organizing a band among the school pupils with support offered by Mrs. Helen K. Stuart was acted upon favorably by the board which voted to approve the action of the city council in accepting the donation of from $3,000 to $6,000 for the purpose of organizing and maintaining a band in the public schools, the purchasing of instruments and engaging a band instructor.

Pirate Gold On Isle Of Man? Manxmen Hunt For Answer

BY WADE WERNER Peel, Isle of Man.—Tourists probably have brought more gold to this island in the Irish sea than ever has hidden here by pirates; but it is pirate gold that is firing the imagination of inhabitants and tourists alike this summer.

Excavations have begun among the ruins of Peel Castle, and while the trustees of the Manx museum will be satisfied if new information is brought to light on the origin of the castle and the early history of Man, the populace and the tourists and even town officials are going to be wretchedly disappointed if at least part of the great gold hoard of the Vikings isn't turned up.

It is certain that for hundreds of years Viking raiders plundered the coasts of England and France and the Mediterranean and brought their loot back to Man. Legend has it that King Orry hid untold wealth in or under or somewhere about Peel Castle, and that when he departed the gold remained.

Toward the latter part of the thirteenth century the Norsemen were thrown out by King Alexander III of Scotland. Later the Scotch themselves had to make room for the English, and though they have been gone a long time, the legend insists that the gold is still there. Excavations are being carried forward under the supervision of J. H. Winterbottom surveyor for the Manx government property trustees. Members of the Manx Antiquarian society of the town commissioners of Peel are taking active part.

Since the work will be a matter of months, it will be at its height during the tourist season, and since Man regularly entertains about 500,000 visitors annually, the excavations probably will be watched by a bigger audience than any archaeological venture in recent years. Peel Castle stands on St. Patrick's Isle, which is connected with the mainland by a quay. Originally it probably was a Celtic fort, and historians are certain it was at one time a Norse stronghold. According to Manx lore, St. Patrick slew Manannan, the legendary hero of prehistoric Man, and converted the island to Christianity in the fifth century.

ANNOUNCE NEW AIR-RAIL LINE TO MEXICO CITY

Kansas City—(AP)—A new international air-rail combination, bringing New York and Mexico City within two business days of each other, was announced here today by the Universal Aviation Corporation. The service will be inaugurated Sunday.

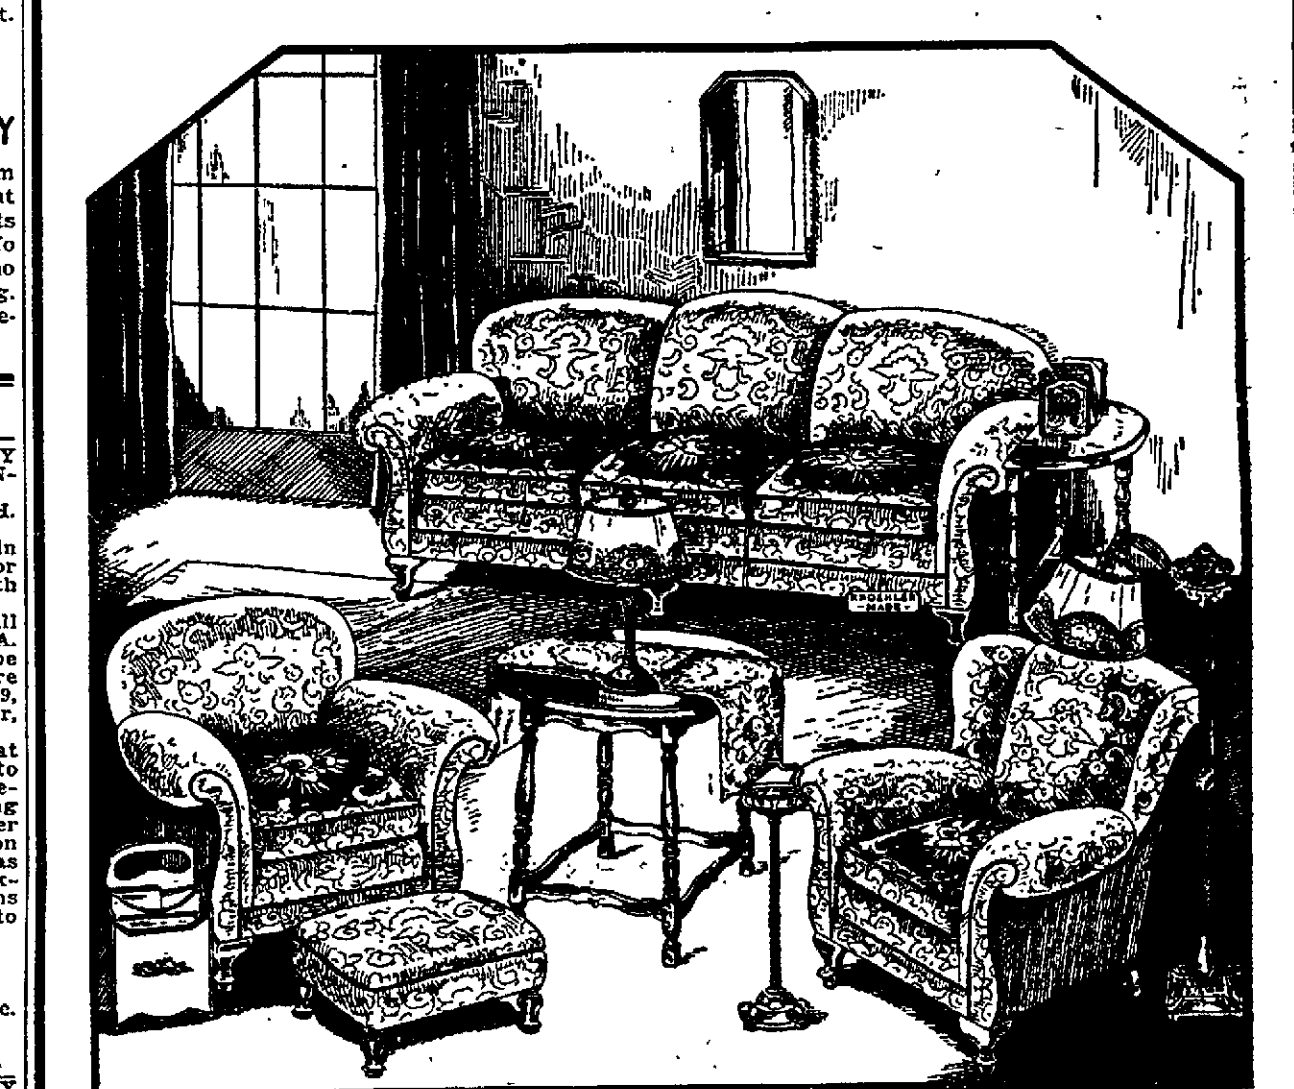

The schedule of the new system calls for a flying time of 67 hours and 15 minutes on the westward trip with an overnight stop at Brownsville, Texas. The return trip would be made in 49 hours and 5 minutes, with no overnight stops.

The service, the announcement said, calls for departure from New York on the new York Central lines to Cleveland, the Universal Air Line from Cleveland to Tulsa, the Missouri-Kansas-Texas from Tulsa to Dallas, the Southern Air transport from Dallas to Brownsville and the Mexican Aviation Corporation from Brownsville to the city of Mexico.

In addition to providing a link between the Atlantic coast and Mexico, the new line will afford direct air-rail connections with the east to sections of the southwest not on a transcontinental route.

ONE-WAY STREETS FOR PLANES ARE BECOMING REALITY

Possible Air Congestion as Result of Huge Sales Brings Development

BY J. C. ROYLE
Copyright, 1929, By C. N. Press
New York—One-way streets for airplanes already have come to pass.
This development just reported here in communications from British aviation authorities, indicates the possible air congestion which may be developed as a result of the tremendous increase in the sales of airplanes and the development of interest in aviation.

Some idea of the congestion possible was gained by visitors to the Cleveland air races and airplane exposition last week. Even with the utmost caution exercised, accidents were narrowly averted in some instances and collision avoided only by the presence of mind of the pilots involved.

England, staging the Schneider cup race, which may determine the speed championship of the air for another year, is acutely aware that no possible means for avoiding accidents shall be overlooked. Hundreds of thousands of Americans and other spectators are expected to journey from London to the Schneider cup course on the south coast of England, by airplane, auto and train.
A corps of aerial guides has been mobilized to go to the airport and conduct visiting planes to their appointed parking places. One-way traffic lanes to and from the landing fields will be established and strictly maintained and patrolled. As much attention will be given these lanes as will be given the roads, schedules for which have been broadcast for weeks past.

WELL SITUATED
Airplane engineers point out that the United States, along with Russia, is particularly badly situated as regards air congestion, since huge areas exist which are not thickly settled, but they admit that this will not lessen air congestion over the population centers. America was equally well situated with regard to avoidance of automobile traffic blocks when motor transportation was in its early stages.
The difficulties and dangers of highway travel were many, exemplified over the Labor day holiday. This has given renewed interest to the building of new roads and activity of this type is sure to be heavier this fall than at any similar period in this country.

In the last week contracts totaling $15,261,000 have been let for street and highway construction.
Pennsylvania, for example, has recently opened bids for 44 miles of roads which will cost in excess of $2,550,000. Bond issues are being authorized in scores of municipalities for the establishment of properly constructed airports and flying fields.
This movement has gained impetus from the recognized necessity of avoiding future air congestion. F.
Trubee Davidson, assistant secretary of war for aeronautics, has said:
"Airports are as vitally necessary as railroad terminals."

There are now 337 municipal airports which will spend $50,000,000 before the end of 1929 for airport improvement. At the present time more than a thousand municipal and private airports are in use and 6,000 additional communities are investigating the possibilities of constructing adequate air terminal facilities. In Europe the air transport companies have increased the number of passengers traveling by airplane by making adequate provision for their comfort, convenience and safety at terminals and en route.

FOLLOWS POLICY
This policy is now being followed in this country. Municipal authorities declare that "it is as important to keep our feet on the ground as to have our heads in the air."
During the present week Dr. Hugo
Eckener, commander of the Graf Zeppelin, which is just completing an around-the-world trip, is conferring with associates in Ohio with regard to the expansion of travel by lighter-than-air craft. Plans already discussed call for the construction of two air liners and the formation of a company to put the ships in service on routes extending across the continent and so far as Honolulu. It is believed that eventually this service will be extended across the Pacific. Developments of this type must draw attention to the necessity for aerial traffic regulations of the strictest type and for a mapping and marking of routes such as has never before been undertaken in the United States.

Flashes of Life

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont.—(AP)—Steve Smith of Bar River is one sturdy lumberjack. As accounts have it, he came upon a big wolf in the woods and beat the animal to the punch. He dived and grasped the wolf's lower jaw with one hand and the neck with the other, then dragged the animal to the lumber camp and tied it up.

Yarmouth, N. S.—(AP)—The steamship Yarmouth has arrived from Boston late because it struck a whale.
The vessel had to be backed away from the mammal, which died.

Moldes, Argentina—A fakir named Bacaman, who had amazed thousands by emerging from coffins after being buried alive sundry times, tried it once too often. He is dead. Three hours after being put in the ground he was dug up. The condition of the coffin indicated he had made strenuous efforts to get out.

Memphis, Tenn.—(AP)—Ed Farrell wired dad from Clarksdale, Ark., for money to get home with. His five-year-old sister, Rose Lucille, knew of only one reason for telegrams, so she told the neighbors Ed was dead.
There followed telephone calls to the house and Mrs. Farrell fainted.

New York—Tom Webster, British cartoonist, invited friends to his wedding by a cartoon in today's World. It depicts cupid shooting at Tom in prison stripes and Tom is yelling: "Not so many of those arrows, kid. This is a life sentence." The lady is Miss Mac Flynn, who once assisted Ziegfeld; the place is city hall and the officiating magistrate is Mayor Walker.

MISS FRENCH WILL NOT MARRY IN HOSPITAL

New York — (AP)—If Miss Valerie French, grand daughter of the late British field marshal, marries Henry Bradley Martin it will not be at his bedside in a Denver hospital but in London in the presence of her relatives and friends.

This was the only definite statement Miss French would make upon her arrival last night on the liner Homer. She refused to confirm reports of her engagement to Mr. Martin, son of Bradley Martin, New York financier, who is recovering in a Denver hospital from injuries suffered in an automobile accident.
"Cannot my answer wait a few days?" she said. "You see, I shall be seeing Mr. Martin's family and perhaps Mr. Martin himself. Then I may have an announcement."
Asked whether she would visit Mr.
Martin at the Denver hospital, she said:
"I cannot say what I shall do. But this is certain. If I marry, the ceremony will be performed in the presence of my relatives and friends in London."

Miss French was accompanied on the voyage by Miss Diana Guest, a cousin of the prospective bridegroom, at whose home in Roslyn, Long Island, she will be a guest.

FRUIT FLY DRAWS CALIFORNIA AND FLORIDA TOGETHER

Traditional Rivalry Between States Disappears Before Trouble

BY BEN G. KLINE
(Copyright, 1929, by Cons. Press)
San Francisco—That pestiferous and omnivorous little insect, the Mediterranean fruit fly, which is giving the United States government such a battle down in Florida is as potent an influence for peace in one way as it is for conflict in another.
The traditional rivalry between Florida and California, which in the past have competed so vigorously for the patronage of tourists and what Chester Rowell once not so happily termed "Decrepit millionaires," is disappearing in the common anxiety over what will happen to their fruit and vegetable crops in case the "Medfly" is not completely eradicated.

Competitive real estate promotion is being shoved into the background.
Nothing has been heard for some time regarding the merits or attractions of respective inheritance tax levies, but are admitting that it has a fine climate in addition to other attractions.

"Those Florida folks who are in difficulty down there because a world-wide pest slipped by quarantine and entered their state are fellow farmers even though several hundred miles separate us from them," an editorial in a leading coast farm-publication declares.

"California and Florida have often hazed each other in the past out of the enthusiasms of their state prides and because of their lively competition for the consumer's favor, but in time of trouble—a trouble that is a common concern—we must speak with the heart and hand, rather than with the tongue and lips."

"Whatever can be done by federal authorities or by the state to help Florida must have the unqualified support of California."

This state through the means of quarantine, detailed inspection of orchards and general alertness to the danger has thus far succeeded in keeping out this undesirable alien pest, but it is realized that once it establishes a permanent home on American soil it can hardly be stopped. Too many means of transportation exist and the forms of plant life upon which it thrives are too numerous for anything but an ocean to form a permanent and effective line of defense.

If the destructive insect, permitted to exist in the south, where not able to hitch hike its way along the "Sunshine" route to California it is feared that it would follow the trail of some barred human aliens and enter by way of the Mexican border.

The California citrus fruit industry has benefited and is benefitting from the Florida situation, but growers and shippers are not crowing about their comparative good fortune. Rather they are urging that every effort be made and any sum that is necessary be spent by the federal government to eradicate the medfly and put the rival state back into lively competition.

Lefty Ritten Gives Three Hits, Fords Beat Chuters 1-0

Bobby Jones Is Beaten At National Amateur Meet

APPLETON SOUTHPAW IN RARE CONDITION; WHIFFS 7 BATTERS

Home Run by Baldy Eggert in Eighth Inning Is Winning Margin

HORTONVILLE—It took up here to remember the 1929 County fair for anything at all it probably will be for the baseball game staged here Wednesday afternoon by the Appleton and Kimberly Little Chute teams of the Fox River Valley league.

For they saw two good ball clubs battle hard for a victory; they saw Appleton win out 1 and 0 with a luster home run by "Baldy" Eggert in the eighth inning; they saw Lefty Ritten turn in his best ball game of the season giving the ex-league champions only three blows; they saw two rapid fire double plays; and last but not least they saw an umpire and a fellow townsman at that, almost mobbed by the Appleton team for a decision that hardly anyone thought was fair. Yes, it was a big afternoon for all concerned.

Ritten probably was the big star of the afternoon's battle although he shared the limelight with Eggert whose clutch looked like a million dollars when the final totals were made. Ritten was in rare condition for the afternoon's toil and it was not until the fourth inning that he allowed even a bingle, a line drive over the fence that Kotal almost succeeded in knocking down. The second hit also was a smash down the third base line while the third was Marty Lamers' short fly to left field.

Besides allowing three hits, Ritten struck out seven batters and issued two walks. His teammates had only four assists, three coming from Nicodem who redeemed himself for Monday's showing at the Rapids and the fourth Ritten's own assist on a ground ball. Lefty was in trouble just once, in the third inning when Kotal was safe on Kotal's error and the next two men were walked. A double play pulled the southpaw out of trouble, however. And just to show the folks he was good, Ritten retired the side in the sixth inning whiling Len Smith, Marty Lamers and Poca, the cream of the Kimberly batting list.

Vanderloop, Kim-Little Chute hunter also tossed a fine article of ball giving the Fords but seven whiffs. He struck out three batters and walked two.

Aside from the gesture in the third inning the ex-league champions failed to show signs of scoring. The Fords, however, threatened in the fifth inning when with two away Nicodem and Bowers both singled but Ritten flied out to Marty Lamers.

In the sixth inning Kotal was first up and singled stealing second and going to third when Lamers and Vanderloop tried a tumbling act over each other. Eggert then struck out and Murphy singled. He then started to steal second, Lamers taking the peg from Hartjes just back of the pitcher's box and tossing to third in an attempt to catch Kotal. Eddie was safe by a couple city blocks and base umpire Collar indicated he was until Marty Lamers let out a whoop and then for some known reason reversed the decision and almost precipitated a riot.

Big "Cave" Radtke who usually is a peaceful chap galvanized to the middle of the diamond and grabbed the umpire, who stands about to Radtke's arm pits and laid down the law. Casey Jansen, plate umpire dashed out on the field to stop any attempts at murder while Kotal fumed and the whole Appleton crowd booed. Casey finally pushed Radtke across the diamond to the side lines and peace and quiet, to a degree, were finally restored.

The Fords were meek in the seventh inning but then came the eighth and the one run which proved the winning margin. Ritten opened the inning by flying out to Poca who made a great dash to get the ball and Kotal left to center. That brought Eggert to the plate and after waiting around a while he found a toss to his liking and hit it on a line between Poca and Smith, the ball going over the fence for a home run.

Lefty Ritten then gave one hit and whiffed two batters to end the Kimberly half of the ninth inning and the game.

Cubs Might Have Won Flag Last Season With Hornsby

BY JOHN R. FOSTER

Copyright 1929

New York—If the Chicago Cubs had been successful in their present push in 1928 they might have won the National league pennant. They might even have won it in 1927 had they been just a little stronger.

At any rate, when the Cubs were strengthened as they needed to be, they had no trouble in jumping away from the rest of the National league teams. Managers who, at this time last year, were presiding in their anxiety to keep in the race, made sad calculations on how strong the Cubs were likely to be this year.

John J. McGraw thought he had gathered a winner this season by making certain changes in the make-up of the Giants. He based his calculation of course, on the strength of the National league teams last year. He made a mistake, that is.

PENN. STATE STAR AND ALL-AMERICAN, TO PLAY WITH BAYS

Mike Michalske Formerly With New York Yankees; Rated Best Guard

Green Bay—August (Mike) Michalske, rated as the best guard in the National Football league, has signed his contract to play with the Green Bay Packers this season.

The star lineman is a graduate of Penn State where in his senior year he earned all-American recognition. After leaving college, he joined Charlie Pyle's New York Yankees and immediately made a name for himself on the professional gridiron.

Michalske was selected on the 1927 all-American pro team and won the same award again in 1928. Both seasons, he was practically a unanimous choice as the team manager.

All around the circuit, figured the Penn State star without a peer in the country.

Although Michalske's regular position is guard, he can step into tackle and do a good job or move over to center and play, that position, well, Michalske has played here twice against the Packers and in each contest he was an outstanding performer.

Last fall, the Yankee played here against the Packers on a Friday night and it was a 0-0 tie. The New Yorkers were expected to be "easy" for the Bays but brilliant work by Michalske, Gibby Welch and Red Smith kept the Gothamites very much in the running. Twice it was Michalske's work on the line that checked the Packers within the shadow of the goal posts.

In the final few minutes of play Welch ran the ball deep into Packer territory and then after three plays had netted New York but little yardage, Michalske failed on a place kick from about the 30-yard mark. Aside from being a great line man, "Mike" also is a good field goal kicker.

When pro football players get together and talk about the game they often refer to Michalske as the "Traction Tamer." Two years ago when the Bears played the Yankees in New York, Traction tried to get hostile with Michalske and before the game was over, the Bears' center was banged up considerably. So much in fact that Westbrook Pegler sent a special story to a paper in Chicago weeping a few news print tears for Mr. Traction, who just escaped the hospital by one or two bangs.

INDIANS WIN ONLY GAME PLAYED IN A. A.

St. Paul Continues Assault on Kansas City's Position Today

Chicago—(P)—Rain washed out three-fourths of the American association schedule yesterday so Bill Burwell, ace of the Indianapolis pitching staff, assumed the hero role.

With the score knotted at five-all and one out in the ninth inning, Burwell decided to score. Connolly from second base with the run that netted the Indians a 6 to 5 margin over Columbus. The victory enabled the Indians to break a deadlock with the Senators for fourth place.

Because of yesterday's showers, St. Paul faced the league leading Kansas City Blues in a doubleheader today. The Saints must win them both to entertain any hope at all for overtaking the leaders, who are nine and one-half games in front now.

certain, in estimating just how much the Cubs would strengthen by the addition of Rogers Hornsby. McGraw announced that he had a better team this year than last, so that he must have overlooked the potential strength in the Cubs altogether.

Baseball observers did not agree with McGraw in that last assertion. There were weaknesses in his team that he had endeavored to overcome. But he has not had a high class second baseman any time during the present season. His team has other minor troubles too, of course.

The indirect trading by New York through which Chicago secured Hornsby was a hard blow to the aspirations of the Giants. The big batter went to Boston first, then to Chicago and he made that team.

Long before Chicago got Hornsby, William Wrigley, the owner of the Cubs, had been advised by shrewd observers to try to get him. "The pennant is yours, if you secure him," one man said. Wrigley tried to get him and although he had a number of failures in this endeavor he eventually succeeded.

Pittsburgh was a good team at the beginning of the year. But then it ran into a spell of misfortune. On the whole the Pirates are better than they were in 1928.

St. Louis was not as good as last year, because of the tower of strength dropped when Grover Cleveland Alexander failed to come through.

So, since the Giants, the only other serious contenders for the bunting, started playing spotty baseball, it was only natural that the Cubs, who now have everything, should get on the rail and show all the rest the way home.

The Cubs are the class of the National League and the writer thinks there is little doubt but what the Cubs are playing as well as Connie Mack's Athletics.

ATLANTAN LOSES TO JOHN GOODMAN; TOLLEY FAVORITE

Sweetser, Voigt and Oumet Among Pebble Beach Survivors

BY ALAN J. GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif.—(P)—Like the boxer who left his punch in the gymnasium, it now seems that the great Bobby Jones, after coming all the way across the Rockies to show the boys out here how he does it, left his par- rading game in the practice rounds.

Unquestionably below his best form, Jones was eliminated yesterday in the first round of the national amateur golf championship for the first time in his career.

the 18 hole "Jinx" matches raised havoc with the first tournament ever held in the far west.

Johnny Goodman, 20-year-old Omaha, Nebraska star, accomplished the downfall of the national open king and four times amateur title holder, by the narrow margin of one up in a match decided on the home hole, but actually tossed away by the defending champion on the fourteenth.

Goodman in turn was knocked out of the tournament in the second round by another giant killer, 18-year-old William Lawson Little, Jr., of San Francisco.

But for the day, at least, the Cornhusker enjoyed the rare thrill of fairly beating the world's most renowned exponent of the royal and ancient game.

The outcome of the hectic first two rounds of match play left eight players—three from the far west, three from the east, one each from the midwest and England, to battle it out today in the 36 hole quarter finals.

For the crown left by Jones, these contestants were paired today as follows:

TOLLEY, SWEETSER SURVIVE
Cyril Tolley, British champion, vs. Dr. O. F. Willing, Portland, Ore; Jess Sweetser, New York, vs. Chandler Egan of Medford, Ore; George Voigt, New York, vs. Harrison Johnston, St. Paul; Francis Oumet, Boston, champion in 1913, vs. William Lawson, Jr., San Francisco.

They were to play 18 holes, starting at 9 o'clock, with ten minute intervals, and another 15—or less—beginning at 2 o'clock.

Over the longer route that prevails for the remaining tournament play, the 36 hole distance that has been so much to the liking of the de-throned champion in four of the past five years, the favorites of the "last light" were the Briton, Tolley, and the New Yorker, Voigt. Both, on the basis of their sensational scoring yesterday, appeared to have regained their best form for the critical stages of the tournament, just as the reverse seemed true so far as Jones was concerned.

Jones got into more trouble in one round than he usually does in a whole tournament. He started successfully that he lost three successive holes. He was only one down at the turn after taking 3 putts on the short seventh, and squared the match on the twelfth for the first and only time.

Then the 14th; Jones two long shots to within easy striking distance of the Green on this 555 yard layout while Goodman, in the rough from the tee, was forced to play his second hole. He was only one down at the turn after taking 3 putts on the short seventh, and squared the match on the twelfth for the first and only time.

Kid Recruit With Chicago Cubs Tells How He Became World's Youngest Rookie

NEW YORK—Sam "Red" Solomon, 13-year-old sensational ball player who piloted a 14-year-old Bronx junior baseball team to a championship in 1923, has been signed to become a future Chicago Cub played by Manager Joe McCarthy, thereby setting a new major league record. Waite Hoyt was 16 when John McGraw signed him for the New York Giants.

But winning a junior baseball championship in 1923 isn't "Red's" only claim to fame. Up to August 25 this season he has managed the New York Kiwanis junior baseball team in the junior circuit, which won 20 out of 21 games, being defeated once by a 16-year-old nine after a tough tussle.

"I consider young Solomon the best natural baseball player for his size I have ever seen," said Manager McCarthy, "and I'm going to give him special instruction and an opportunity to develop into a major leaguer, with the intention of eventually having him join the Cubs as a regular."

"Sam, who is the envy of all small boys, has worked out with the Cubs every day since he signed with them until they left for Cincinnati. He plays every position. He couldn't make the Cincinnati trip on account of having an engagement with a dentist. He also has a special tutor who is instructing him in the do's and don'ts a small boy should be familiar with. Miss Betty Van Allen is responsible for Red's personal conduct, deportment and table manners. He weighed only 75 pounds when he joined the Cubs and in a week gained four pounds through a proper diet. He said he had been used to eating a doughnut and drinking a cup of coffee for breakfast, but now he drinks a lot of milk and eats fresh fruit, vegetables and has his meals regularly—and yes, chews his food.

But hear Sam. "All I have to do is practice with the Cubs and get special instruction and when they are away I'm going to work out at Crotona park and keep in trim and help the other sandlot kids. Have a take a shower or bath every day, but that's not so, although it was kinda hard to get used to it."

"My mother had a hard time finding me Saturday nights before when it came my turn to get into that tub. I have eight brothers and sisters and she made us all take our turns, but it's all right now."

"I have a new Cub uniform, spiked shoes and stockings which Manager McCarthy got me, and I will be at the world series if we win. Kiki Cuyler has been giving me daily instructions in hitting and running bases. He is the big leagues' leading base stealer, you know, and one of the 10 leading sluggers. I'll get along all right and learn these lessons. And I'm not going on the stage, nor do anything but play baseball. I'm not an actor and I want to please Manager McCarthy and the whole team and make my mother feel good, too."

"Red" has met Owner William Wrigley and President William Veck of the Chicago Cubs, and recently was made an honorary member of the Bronx Chamber of Commerce through President Logan Billingsley.

Some of his do's are: Chew your food. Don't wash your food down with water. Eat slowly and regularly three times daily. Bathe after every baseball game. Brush your teeth. Help another boy every day. Study your baseball rules. Attend school every day. Don't remain seated when a lady enters a room, stand and remain standing until she is seated or leaves. Don't smoke or drink, and don't drink tea or coffee. Don't remain up after 9 p. m. Don't butter a whole slice of bread. Don't cut a salad with your knife. Don't cut more than one piece of meat at a time. Don't drink milk with meat. Don't ever be late for an appointment.

And "Red" modestly goes about like any average American boy, but with one idea, to make good as a kid baseball player and join the Cubs.

BIG BILL LATHROP WINS TWO GOLF TITLES

Janesville—Disproving the theory that a man can be extremely proficient in only one line of sports, William G. Lathrop, one time Chicago White Sox pitcher, but who now yields the golf club instead of the bat, won two country golf club championships Saturday and Sunday.

Lathrop left the White Sox club about two years ago and came to Janesville, where he started to play golf along with his vocation of selling insurance. After two years of diligent practice, he won the Janesville Country club title Saturday by defeating Ambrose J. Olsen, in medal play. Lathrop's score for the 36-hole course was 154, while Olsen's was 160.

Sunday Lathrop traveled to the Big Foot Country club at Lake Geneva, where he reached the finals and

SONNENBERG DEFENDS TITLE AT MILWAUKEE

Milwaukee—(P)—Gus Sonnenberg, world heavyweight wrestling champion, successfully defended his title in a bout here last night when he threw Joe Devito in one hour and 12 seconds. De Vito forfeited the second fall.

Midwest Fischer, Butternut and Frank Aguayo wrestled 23 minutes to a draw when the match was called on account of rain.

defeated John Moreloch, Chicago golfer, in match play, 9 up and 8 to play, in the club's championship match.

"Big Bill" Lathrop will be remembered by Appleton baseball fans as a former pitcher for Appleton in the old stage league. "Big Bill" and "Shorty" Wenzel were the Appleton battery at that time and made quite a hit because of the extremes in size.

Zuppke Has First Bear Story

Champaign—(P)—Coach Robert Zuppke, who dotes on bear stories when talking about his university of Illinois football team, is at it again. "Zup" arrived on the campus unexpectedly last night and before he was through talking he had convinced his eager listeners that the Illinois would have a terrible time winning their third straight Big Ten football championship.

First, he announced that "Frosty" Peters, Illinois quarterback and drop kicking ace, would not return to school this fall because of a sinus operation. Then, to spread more gloom, he called attention to the recent faculty ruling whereby any player can be declared ineligible from competition in the middle of the season at Illinois.

"It looks like a tough fight," the little Dutchman said. "We will have our hands full winning a game, I guess."

But "Zup" has been spreading bear stories about the Illini so long and then turning out winning teams that rival coaches won't read about his gloom any longer.

Cleveland, O.—K. O. Christner, Akron, won on a foul from Johnny Risko, Cleveland, (9).

Bayonne, N. J.—Young Jack Zazmarino, Bayonne, knocked out Eddie Cannonball Martin, New York, (7).

"RADIO TRUST" FIGHT IS TAKEN TO WHITE HOUSE

Prosecution Asked of Radio Corporation of America

BY ROBERT MACK

Copyright, 1929, by Cons Press Washington — Oswald F. Schuette, the indefatigable leader of the radio independents, has carried his fight against what he alleges to be the "radio trust" to the White House. To President Hoover, Mr. Schuette made a plea for federal prosecution of the Radio Corporation of America, and the large interests affiliated with it in the radio manufacturing field.

As executive secretary of the Radio Protective Association, comprising a group of independent receiving set and accessory manufacturers, Mr. Schuette has waged a relentless battle against the RCA. His activities have been reflected in both houses of congress, but it is the first time that he has had an audience with the president of the United States on the matter.

After his conference with the chief executive, Mr. Schuette said he was confident that his campaign against the "radio trust" was a legitimate one and that recent court decisions the R. C. A. indicated the soundness of his claims.

"I told the president," he said, "that for two years we have been trying to get the department of justice to prosecute the Radio Corporation of America, General Electric Company, Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company, United Fruit Company, and The American Telephone and Telegraph Company companies of the anti-trust laws, because they have pooled the patents in the radio industry and have undertaken to destroy the independent competitors."

"Attorney General Daugherty gave this 'trust' immunity eight years ago, since that time there has been no action taken by the department of justice, although a year ago, Judge Morris, in the United States district court at Wilmington, Del., led that the 'trust' had violated the Clayton anti-trust law. This was affirmed by the United States circuit court of appeals and the supreme court of the United States twice refused to review the decision."

"We have had the help of the senate committee on interstate commerce in uncovering this situation and we are hopeful that when the committee meets again under the senate's radio trust resolution, the department of justice will take some active steps to protect the independent industry."

NO COMMENT HEARD

Inquiries at the White House, following Mr. Schuette's visit, failed to elicit any comment either from the president or his assistant other than that Mr. Schuette had called and conferred with President Hoover.

Mr. Schuette had made the voice of the independent radio manufacturers heard about Washington. When ever an opportunity presents itself he is on hand to condemn what he characterizes as the "steamroller" tactics of the R. C. A. Although he is understood to represent only radio receiving set and accessory manufacturers, he also has taken a large at the R. C. A.'s communications enterprises, which admittedly have placed the United States in a position of leadership in international communications.

The dynamic "trust-buster" is banking heavily on the developments before the senate interstate commerce committee, which has under consideration the Couzens bill for the creation of a federal commission on communications. The committee, in its deliberations, has seen fit to conduct a sweeping inquiry into the entire radio communications situation, as well as the patent-pool arrangement, and Mr. Schuette is seeing to it that the committee does not overlook a bet that might react against his adversaries.

ALBANIAN CHURCH DISPUTES RIGHTS OF CONSTANTINOPLE

Trouble Breaks Out Between Two Branches of Foreign Group

Tirana, Albania —(AP)— Trouble has broken out between the Albanian National church and the Patriarch of Constantinople.

The Albanian Independent Church has been in existence de facto, if not de jure, since 1922. The Patriarch of Constantinople whose authority was flouted by the erection of the Albanian Church as a self-governing institution, has communicated the leaders of the movement. Archbishop Vissarion of Korytza and Bishop Athanasios Charnel. The latter was formerly a restaurant proprietor at Jamesburg New Jersey.

Albania claims that autocephalous rights have been claimed by Bulgaria, Jugo-Slavia, Greece and Rumania and were duly recognized by the Pontiff of Phanar. King Zog consequently was astonished when Constantinople placed difficulties in the way of the Albanian Church which wished to have the same privileges.

Two years ago the Patriarchate sent Monsignor Chrysant, Bishop of Trebizonde, to Tirana to endeavor to meet Albanian aspirations without the grant of full autonomy. These negotiations resulted in a deadlock, because the Albanian church demanded unconditional independence; whereas the Patriarch's delegate insisted upon the right of His Holiness Basil II, the Patriarch of Constantinople, to appoint Albanian bishops.

The present trouble is said to have arisen over the organization of a Holy Synod, which the Patriarchate regards as irregular, but for the proclamation of the Church as an autocephalous institution.

3 OUTAGAMIE-CO MEN LOST THEIR LICENSES

Three Outagamie-co drivers were among the 53 Wisconsin drivers who lost drivers' licenses in August, according to a report from the secretary of state. Winnebago-co had seven revocations; Fond du Lac-co had three and Waupaca-co, one. Revocations ranged from three months to a year with three months predominating. Licenses were revoked for drunken and reckless driving.

The Oecumenical Patriarchate protested against what he considered a religious coup d'etat by the Albanian ecclesiastics and at the same time requested the Jugo-Slavian Church to discipline Monsignor Victor. One result of this action was that the Jugo-Slav Patriarch's failed to extend recognition to the Albanian Church.

One Albanian bishop was expelled from the country because he refused to sanction the proposed change without the consent of the Patriarch. He said that it was a fundamental principle of the Canon Law of the Orthodox Church that any national organization which wished to secede from the Patriarchate in Constantinople, should make its request through the hierarchy which, together with the government of the country, should solicit the proclamation of a "Tome" which would mean that the Church in question, although a member of the family of Eastern Byzantine Churches, was independent.

Poland recently was granted its independence by the Oecumenical Patriarchate in Constantinople, having made its request canonically, he said.

CLIPPED WINGS OF PROHIBITION UNIT DOES NOT STOP WORK

Department's Educational Division Still Busy; Work Is Different

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Washington—The ladies of the educational division of the Prohibition unit, though their wings are clipped, nevertheless are pursuing their work with as much zeal as is permitted. This division is the one captained by Miss Anna B. Sutter, which recently started to put out pamphlets designed to aid school teachers in inculcating their pupils with the prohibitionist's point of view. A splendid thing, prohibitionists would say, but the work of this sort was to be worked into courses in drawing, history, arithmetic, music, geography and other subjects. President Hoover is supposed to have hit the ceiling when he heard about it. At any rate, Miss Sutter and her girl associates are hastily called off and the pamphlets destroyed.

GETS MANY LETTERS

Miss Sutter's head is unbowed. She has had many sympathetic letters from school teachers. The next production from her office for prohibition and other use will be a substantial pamphlet on alcohol. This work will not undertake to prove that alcohol is a beverage, an evil thing, but, one, under-stands, will rather tell of its industrial use, the government's supervision over it and other things of interest about alcohol which no one will object to when imparted to students.

More pamphlets will follow the alcohol pamphlet. In these it is intended only to tell the plain facts of prohibition enforcement and matters germane. The facts, that is, at the government prefers to talk about.

Among the things at least temporarily laid off since the squelching of Miss Sutter's propaganda efforts is the matter of a prohibition poster which was to have been broadcast over the nation, but other difficulties than objection by superior officers interposed. Of a large number of posters submitted by artists not one really "clicked" with Miss Sutter, Commissioner Doran and others who viewed them. Also, the estimated cost of placarding the nation with such a poster is about $75,000, and the educational division's appropriation from congress is a mere $5,000.

WOMAN NOT RESPONSIBLE

It now seems established that Mrs. Ygles Poindeux was not alone responsible for the Peruvian government's dismissal of Dr. Alfredo González Prada as first secretary of its embassy here. It seems that the Prada family in Lima has not been keeping on the right side of President Leguía. Alfredo's father is a Peruvian journalist of note and the Prada family has been sounding sour notes on his editorial bazoo over Peru's Tana-Arica treaty with Chile. The most interesting angle of the incident from the Washington viewpoint was that it presented the spectacle of an American woman protesting directly to the head of a foreign government about the loss of a servant to one of its diplomats. For appears that Mrs. Poindeux wrote right to President Leguía when her servant Cornelio, imported from Lima, went into Prada's service for her wages. The Peruvian foreign office told Prada to return the servant and apologize and Prada told it to go chase itself. Prada heading for Europe, which probably is good judgment, as one of Peru's battles for political prisoners' liberties rages for him at the moment.

GRANTS 52 BUILDING PERMITS LAST MONTH

Total Cost of Construction Work in August Was $86,175

Fifty-two building permits were issued during August, and during the past month the total value of construction work in the city was $86,175, according to a report of John Welland, building inspector. The amount accruing the city of Appleton for permits was $52, which amount has been paid to the city treasurer.

There were 143 inspections made during the past month and one meeting of the board of appeals was held on a building controversy of Anton Strohofer, 530 W. 6th-st., according to Mr. Welland who also investigated 28 complaints and calls. Twenty permits were issued for construction of garages. The total value of garages constructed during the past month is $2,950. Nine permits were granted for residences plus garages at an estimated cost of $42,850.

Fourteen permits were issued for additions and alterations, cost $3,885; three mercantile establishments, cost $35,000, and five miscellaneous construction programs, cost $1,490.

ANNOUNCE SEVERAL INVESTMENT TRUSTS TO BE FORMED SOON

Believe New Groups Will Have Effect on Movements of Stocks

BY CHARLES F. SPEARE
Copyright 1929 by Cons. Press
New York—Announcement of several large investment trusts that have been in the making for some weeks is expected to break soon. This may play an important part in the movements of the general stock market.

There have been rumors for some days that a trust with a capital of $20,000,000, exceeding in size any of the others that have so far been created, would be formed from a community of interests between the Electric Bond and Share groups and those identified with the American Super Power corporation. This would bring together groups of securities and financing and holding companies with assets in excess of $900,000,000. It will probably mean further "split-ups" in the shares of the Electric Bond and Share stocks as well as a readjustment in the capital structure of the American Super Power company.

SIMILAR EFFECT

The effect of this on the Wall Street imagination might be similar to that which followed the creation of the Commonwealth and Southern corporation and the merger of utilities in New York state into the Niagara and Hudson Power company. Another investment trust which will specialize in public utilities in the United States and in Canada is to be sponsored by the Harris-Forbes corporation and the American Foundry

Lady Is Enthusiastic Over Unexpected Results from New and Different Medicine

MRS. ALICE LARSON

"I was ready to give up all hope of ever finding any relief from my complication of ailments," said Mrs. Alice Larson, 5300 Correctionville Road, Sioux City, Iowa. "Stomach, liver and kidney troubles and constipation were my chief ailments. No food, however light, agreed with me. I had terrible headaches practically all the time, and bilious spells that lasted for hours."

"Konjola went right to the source of my troubles. As my organs were cleansed and stimulated, and as the poisons were driven from my system, I could feel the rich, warm glow of returning health. My appetite has improved wonderfully, as did my digestion. Konjola put an end to the ills that had made me miserable for years. I cannot help but feel enthusiastic over such unexpected results."

GAUSLIN INSPECTS 113 PLUMBING JOBS

One hundred and thirteen plumbing jobs were inspected during the past month by George Gauslin, city plumbing inspector. Forty plumbing permits were granted; 40 final inspections were made; 60 roughing inspection trips, and 13 sewer inspections.

The total amount of permits issued to open trenches during the past month for the purpose of installing or repairing service from mains to property are as follows: water service repair, 0; sewer, 8; sewer repair, 2; and water service connections, 19, making a total of 30 permits, according to Mr. Gauslin.

ders corporation and its affiliates. The latter is one of the oldest and most substantial of the investment trusts which has steadily broadened its scope until today it not only operates in the markets for securities, both domestic and foreign, but has taken an active part in the management of banks and finance corporations. It is expected that this new company will have a capital running up into many millions of shares and that it will appeal to the public on the basis of a moderately low priced share unit.

All of these new investment trusts are potential supporters of the market for existing securities.

WOMEN DESIGNING OWN FALL STYLES

Long Skirt, Almost as Wide as Famous Hoop Skirt, Is Designed

BY AILEEN LANOMT
Copyright 1929 by Cons. Press
New York — Robes de style have begun to make their appearance. That simply means women have begun to take liberties with the autumn styles already and are designing dresses according to their own ideas rather than according to the rule of thumb to the designers. One such dress has a taffeta skirt which comes within 6 inches of the ground and is almost as wide as the old time hoop skirt when it is spread out. It has a broad band between knee and hip cut into large lacy designs and is posed over an underskirt of black tulle. Each of the lacy openings is outlined in gold and the bodice hangs from a lacy yoke.

It seems to make comparatively little difference whether one wears one's furs inside or outside the coat nowadays. One of the smartest wraps seen here is of black broadcloth, three quarters length and is lined with muskrat. It has a double collar and cuffs of shaved Caracul. The fastening is well over the left hand side of the front.

Along with the autumn sport costumes there has been evolved a new

23 BOY SCOUTS LEARN TO SWIM AT CHICAGAMI

Twenty-three valley council boy scouts from the various troops learned to swim while at Camp Chicagami this summer, according to a report submitted by Robert Mattix, Charles-town, Ill., swimming instructor at the camp, to M. G. Clark, valley scout executive.

The "cap system" was used at camp this summer. Youngsters wearing yellow caps were non-swimmers, those wearing green caps were able to swim 50 feet, and those permitted to wear white caps could swim 50 yards or more, according to Mr. Clark. With the cap system it was possible to keep track of the youngsters in the water, so that those

The distinctive new hem lines are being brought vigorously to the attention of every spectator. This is being accomplished by trimming the hems of the georgette dresses with a deep band of fur. ### Teachers Unable to Get Off to Early Start Because of Congestion

New London—With an assembly room originally intended for seating 175 students, members of the faculty are at their wits' end in an endeavor to accommodate 385, which is 45 more than the first day's enrollment of last year. Soviets Believe Religious Sentiment Must Give Way to Industry

BY WILLIAM RESWICK (Associated Press Correspondent)

Moscow—(AP)—The "intimidation of the bells," once predominant among Russia's noises, is gradually being dropped in the ever-increasing uproar of industrialism. Russia's church bells are being detached from their bellies and cast into the melting pot.

Moscow will soon miss those booming and jingling sounds that used to ring out at all times of day and night on the most varied occasions. Soviet leaders assert that industrialism must progress, and that religious sentiment can expect but little sympathy if its presence interferes with this progress.

Statistics show that in the Soviet Union there are altogether about 50,000 churches. If one takes an average of about five bells to a church it means that Russia has about 250,000 bells; meaning in turn, as the Soviet papers put it, that there are thousands of tons of bronze swinging idly in the air.

With Russia lacking in metal at this critical point of her industrial development, the government deems it absurd that so much copper and tin should thus go to waste. A goodly amount of metal has already been collected from demolished churches and from those religious buildings that have been transformed into clubs, movie houses and other community centers, but there are still thousands of bells hanging in belleries.

Although the government has not definitely decreed that bells of every description be taken from the church and utilized in the factories, there is a move in that direction. At least, a goodly portion of Russia's church bells are doomed to disappear in the near future.

FIND T. B. PREVALENT AMONG POULTRY FLOCKS

Tuberculosis in poultry flocks has been found much more prevalent than was suspected, and in many counties, especially in some of the North Central States, the disease is present to a great or less extent in about 70 per cent of the flocks, according to a United States Department of Agriculture report to Gus Sell, county agent.

Tuberculous birds show loss of vigor and flesh, lameness, swollen joints, drooping, and general unthriftiness. T. B. in poultry can be definitely diagnosed by a post-mortem or by the tuberculin test given by a veterinarian.

If the disease is discovered in the poultry flock, all diseased birds should be immediately killed, and burned, and the remaining fowls over a year old should be marked. The chicken house should be thoroughly cleaned and disinfected, and moved to clean ground. Lots and runways should be plowed up and seeded to some grain crop, and a new start made on clean ground with young, healthy, vigorous birds of good breeding. Avian tuberculosis is doubly harmful in that it affects swine as well as poultry.

Ed and hangars are to be erected near the shore.

Although the field is upon the private property of Colonel Green, the entire estate is kept open to visitors and the flying field will be at the disposal of all aviators.

Nearly based a radio broadcasting station erected and maintained by Colonel Green and at one side of the field is the radio research station maintained jointly by Colonel Green and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

SHIP EARLY CABBAGE

Shelter Bros., Greenville, are shipping considerable early cabbage from the station here. The heads are quite large and the yield is fair despite the lack of rain. The largest heads are going to a home kraut manufacturer but the smaller heads are being shipped south. The growers are still going through the fields and selecting only the best heads and leaving the smaller ones to grow.

Before the close of next week the early cabbage harvest will be on in earnest in this vicinity. The product is much better than that of a week ago but it is difficult to determine the yield as considerable cabbage is left in the field to grow and only the largest heads are removed. The price per ton on Saturday was $20.

Charles Pohlman, Greenville, has a half acre of cucumbers. The patch is not doing very well on account of the dry weather and the injury done by a small black fly that bores into the stalk at the surface of the ground and causes the plant to topple over.

The new building contains nine rooms, is one and one-half stories high and 30 by 36 feet, exclusive of an enclosed porch 8 by 32 feet. A concrete block basement is a part of the building. An automatic water system, electric lights and furnace heat will be installed.

Mix a 15-pound pail of HERD-TONIK with 100 pounds of common salt.

Place it where the cattle may have access to it daily and they will treat themselves. Try this test. This quantity is enough to treat twenty-five head for two months. It will prove what HERD-TONIK can do. An increased flow of milk is the best indication of a healthy herd.

Here is what a good dairy farmer who is using HERD-TONIK, says:

ONE-THIRD MORE MILK

Dr. David Roberts' Veterinary Co. Waukegan, Wisconsin

Geordie, during the year 1929 my herd of 23 head of cattle were afflicted with herd infection and my milk average was so low that I consulted your Dr. Roberts as to what to do.

He advised me to use the complete treatment including HERD-TONIK and in a short time after finishing the treatment my herd of milkers had increased in their flow of milk, with same care and feed. Three eight-eighths cans per day or an additional income of $4.00 in the way of the eight-eighths for feed in a short time. In my herd is now in a clean, strong and profitable condition, having gained a 100 per cent increase in milk production.

You will be interested to know that fifteen years ago we had this same trouble in our herd and used your treatment with good results, not having any trouble since 1912.

I want others to know this and for this reason am giving you the address of publishing my letter.

Wishing all who read this letter the same good success with their herds that I have had. I am

FARMERS IN MIDST OF BUSIEST SEASON OF YEAR JUST NOW

Thrashing, Hay Making, Etc. Keeps Them Busy Many Hours Daily

BY W. F. WINSETT

Farmers of this section are thrashing, hay making, cutting red clover for seed, plowing, hauling manure, picking beans and cucumbers, cutting early cabbage and plowing. Barley is about a 60 per cent crop and oats a little less. Corn and cabbage are growing rapidly. Hay is producing an exceptional yield and filling barns to capacity. Red clover saved for seed appears to be quite well filled. Beans and cucumbers are developing slowly and pickings have wider intervals than other years. Early cabbage is yielding well. Flowing is a hard job for men and teams. Although it is splendid hay weather, all growing crops would be greatly benefited by rain.

Walter H. Wierck has finished cutting his second crop of hay. To make room for the second crop in his mows, he baled 35 tons. As no seed appeared in alfalfa being saved for hay, he had threshed his oats and barley and reports a 60 per cent crop. His hay crop of hay amounted to 130 tons. He has two excellent fields of corn, one field of 18 acres loaded with glazed ears and the other of 15 acres that he expects to put in the silo next week. He expects to shred the crop in the 18 acre field. He has turned his cattle into his new seedings where they find an abundance of pasture. He expects more farmers to have large crops of corn this fall but thinks that the grain crops are generally light.

William Bergholz, route 4, was thrashing on Friday. He has recently built the largest silo in Outagamie county out of concrete. The dimensions of the structure are 14 by 46 feet. Gust Henke, route 5, will complete the building of a new farm residence in about six weeks. The new building contains nine rooms, is one and one-half stories high and 30 by 36 feet, exclusive of an enclosed porch 8 by 32 feet. A concrete block basement is a part of the building. An automatic water system, electric lights and furnace heat will be installed.

His observations over a long period of time convinced him many people were ruining their health by a careless choice of laxatives. Then he determined to write a prescription which would get at the cause of constipation and correct it quickly and safely.

How successful his efforts were is best shown by the fact that the prescription he wrote back in 1885 has become the world's most popular laxative. He prescribed a mixture of herbs and other pure ingredients now known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, in thousands of cases where bad breath, coated tongue, gas, headaches, biliousness, and lack of appetite, or energy showed him that the bowels

For the Love of a Lady

by Jeffery Farnol

CHAPTER 30
A DREAM

Sir Richard, seated in his secret chamber, many times did read his cousin Julian's hastily scribbled words, beneath brows close-knit in troubled perplexity; finally, taking pen, ink and paper, he made of this so urgent message a copy, word for word, which done, he folded and thrust it into an inner pocket of his coat; then, extinguishing the candle, he groped to the door, listened a moment, and went softly down the secret stair.

Now, after some while it changed that my lady Helen, busied among her roses, heard a soft, melodious whistle, and glancing round beheld a broad back stooping laboriously in the distant kitchen garden. She saw the Duchess waiting to her from the terrace and hastened forward to aid her down the steps.

"Aunt," said she, "pray who is the male creature haunts the garden, of late?"

"Shure now, child, and isn't ut the gardener man," she answered; "the old man that Ben found t' other day."

"Was it you who engaged him, aunt?"

"Who else, me dear soul? And see how well he does—not a leaf out of place, the hedge so trim and the walk so tidy."

"Well, but he—stares at me, aunt."

"But then, they do say he's but half-witted."

"Oh, madam, and indeed!" said Helen. "Then twice I've caught him gossiping with Betty, that scold!"

"Gossiping, do you say, Helen? Shure now and this reminds me! I've heard o' poor Captain Despard?"

"No, aunt. What? Wherefore poor?"

"The misfortunate gentleman plied downstairs last night and broke an arm."

"Then he was probably drunk—I detest a sot."

"Indeed, miss? Now I protest ye astound me."

"However," sighed Helen. "This is, be supposed, I shall ride over, to inquire after the miserable creature, and yonder cometh Angela, and in that frightful old taffety today, when she must be elegant, for this morning the Marquis waits on us, and I intend to marry 'em within the month."

"La, Helen, what's amiss?" cried a merry voice. And Mistress Angela came tripping across the velvet ward.

My lady appraised her and shook reproving head.

"Fie, child, it shall never do!" said she, "so away and off with that dismal taffety."

"Nay, 'tis well enough for the garden, and mighty comfortable!"

"It makes you yellow as a guinea. And the Marquis expected. Hath he spoke yet?"

"The... Marquis?" faltered Angela.

"Himself, child. Hast he spoken yet?" my lady repeated.

"Lud no, Helen! 'Tis but a week! Why should he speak?"

"He should ha' spoke ere this—ay, he should ha' prayed and implored me to wedlock had I been in the place!"

"Oh, ma'm!" retorted Angela. "Then pray—what o' thy Richard, ma'm? Is thy Richard so eager, so ardent, so insistent in his wooing o' thee?"

"Bold Mistress Pert, I protest he is none o' mine!"

"Alas, my poor Helen, yet is thy secret heart his and his only. Oh, my poor Helen! Hush thee and hear! This very morning, waking early, I stole into thy chamber and thou abed, sweet and rosy with slumber—but as I watched thee tears bedewed thy closed lashes, thy swelling brow, desolate sob from they yet sleeping lips stole plaintive whisper: 'Richard!' sighed you. 'Oh, alas, my Richard!'"

"Odious!" cried my lady, and clenched white fists, yet—up from rounded throat to wide brow crept a sudden, burning colour. "Tis false. I vow 'tis false!"

"Trala-la!" sang Angela, and danced lightly out of reach—and yet, not quite, for my lady sprang and caught her.

"Confess," cried she, "confess this for a lie!"

"Full and freely, dearest!" answered Angela. "Lie was it, indeed, yet I did, but tell thee, what thou shouldst ha' dreamed and told I vast by well—come kiss me, my own dear Helen!"

"Why away and don thy blue poplin and new French hat, miss?"

"This moment, my best beloved."

"Why, then, thou little, naughty wretch—"

So Helen bent to kiss and to be kissed, and away sped Angela, singing gaily as she went; then my lady opened her lovely eyes suddenly wide to see the Duchess in converse with the odd-man.

"Gracious me!" exclaimed Helen, and stood suddenly arrested, staring at a small, folded paper which was securely impaled upon two thorns in the very midst of the rosebush; she detached it, carefully, opened it, and read these words scrawled thereon in bold characters:

"This midnight R
"Come down lest I climb up."
"N. B. Neither ride nor walk abroad."

Having read, she thrust the paper beneath the fragrant laces of her gown; and then, hearing a silver jingle, glanced up and saw Viscount Brocklehurst approaching, booted and spurred for the road. He stood gazing upon her with eyes aglow, a look so persistent that she, greatly aware of that crumpled paper tugging in its downy nest flushed beneath his ardent scrutiny.

"Ah, Helen, I... I vow," said he in his quick, breathless, staring do grow over the more beautiful. You madden me—bewitch me! I am come to beg you ride out with me. Come now. I pray, go with me. I do entreat."

My lady glanced curiously at the speaker, surprised and repelled by the odd, repressed eagerness of his manner.

"Nay, sir today I'm in no mood for a gallop," she answered lightly. "This is a bit of it—well walk, let us walk, Helen; there is the charming view I can show you, across Pevensey level to the sea. Come, prithee, let us walk."

"Oh, my lord, 'twill prove too hot a day for walking."

"Why, then, a chaise.... There's a chaise at the inn."

"My gratitude sir," she laughed, "but today I shall stay among my roses."

"Roses?" he muttered—swung on his heel, took three paces, came back swiftly and spoke in gasping, "whisper."

"Helen, I love thee and.... no man shall ever come betwixt us, I swear it—ay, on my life, my very soul! But today must I leave thee—business of moment calls me to town. But I shall come back—"

But at this moment, and with portentous rustle of voluminous skirts, the Duchess descended upon them:

"Ah, me dear Viscount," quoth she, "tell me ari about me poor, dear captain—is it very drunk he was, then? Give me y' arm to the cherry-tree and tell me everything about it."

Perforce the Viscount bowed and obeyed, though with a furtive yet inquiring look at Helen, who turned back to her roses; My lady turned and fled to the gloom of the stable. And here came old Ben to greet her joyously.

Helen hears more of the man whose vindication so seriously concerns her in tomorrow's chapter.

HUGE NEW STATION GETS LICENSE FROM U. S. RADIO BOARD

WTIC to Broadcast With 50,000 Watt Transmitter; Starts at Once

BY ROBERT MACK

Copyright 1929 by Cons. Press

Hartford, Conn.—The "Big Six" of radio broadcasting was augmented by another 50,000 watt transmitter today station WTIC, here—which should serve a large chunk of the station with booming signal strength.

Situated on the top of Avon mountain, just ten miles west of Hartford, the station represents the last word in a broadcasting perfection. It joins the ranks of the half dozen stations throughout the country which are authorized to use the maximum allowable power of 50,000 watts. These represent the handful of so-called "national" stations, assigned to exclusive channels primarily to afford good long-distance reception.

Every detail of the mechanics of radio broadcasting was gone into thoroughly before the station was constructed. Two powerful 100,000 watt vacuum tubes are employed to amplify the power employed in transmission. All through the station the giant sending machine the very latest in broadcasting technique has been provided. It is the claim of the Travelers Insurance company, which owns the station, that the transmitting apparatus represents a new height of engineering achievement in the art.

Operating on a frequency of 1020 kilocycles, WTIC should serve virtually all of New England on a regular schedule, winter and summer. That it will reach inland to quite some extent is unquestioned, since a 5,000 watt station it was heard with consistent regularity out of its proper service area, and intermittently in practically every station in the country.

CONSIDER METHOD

Engineers of the new situation are considering the introduction of the "method" of transmission, whereby the signals would be deflected inland by means of a reflecting antenna. Even now the antenna is so arranged that a greater portion of the power signal is thrown inland, since Hartford is practically on the Atlantic coast. As radio waves travel in circles from the transmitting point, considerable of the signal strength would be dissipated into the ocean should the transmitter be allowed to emit its normal signal.

Today the new 50,000 watt station was dedicated. It is the achieved hope of Walter G. Cowles, vice president of the travelers company. Radio has held a fascination for Mr. Cowles who for many years has been a radio amateur, despite his advanced years. He is 72, and a radio "ham" in good standing. WTIC originally was licensed in 1925 as a 500 watt local station. Under the guiding hand of Mr. Cowles it has reached the top rank of stations.

Hartford for generations has been known as the nations insurance company center, having some 50 companies. But it is also on the map in radio. It is the birthplace of the American Radio Relay League, the organization of amateurs, and it now embraces one of the selected few of the "national" stations. There are some 17,000 radio amateurs in the United States—all accredited members of the relay league.

The licensing of WTIC for 50,000 watts is another indication of the inevitable trend toward high power and the cleared channel for broadcasting stations. These have been the sore spot of radio, with tremendous opposition by certain members

The "power wallop" protagonists, however, have won out, with the contention that only with higher power and with exclusive channels for high power can the farmer and the remote listener be served.

Besides the 50,000 watters now on the air, another half dozen stations in different sections of the country are authorized to build transmitters of this power. One by one, these stations will take the air. There are 40 cleared channels reserved for high power stations, and it is the hope of the proponents of this movement eventually to have them all accommodating 50,000 watt stations, or stations of even greater power.

CONSERVATION BODY COMPLETES ANNUAL TOUR THROUGH STATE

Outlines Plans for Expansion Along Several Lines

Madison (P)—As a result of the annual inspection tour of the state conservation commission which ended Friday, Aug. 30, policies regarding some conservation projects in the state were modified, and plans made for expansion along some lines. Besides the commissioners, the acting director and five departmental heads made the tour, which started Saturday Aug. 24.

Gov. and Mrs. Kohler traveled with the commission from the village of Kohler through the Kettle-Moraine hills and to the Moon Lake wild life refuge and game farm on Monday, Aug. 26. Congressman George J. Schneider spent two days with the commission going through his district. Brown, Kewaunee and Door counties.

Congressman Schneider was particularly interested in plans for the development of the new Potawatomi state park, located on the old government bluff area between Sturgeon Bay and Green Bay. He was largely responsible for the state's securing this park.

At the new Terry Andrae park, given to the state last fall by Mrs. F. Terry Andrae of Milwaukee, the commission took notice of warnings that the general public should be excluded because of the unusual character of the grounds and the delicate plant life, which makes this park less adapted to the handling of crowds than are other state parks.

While the public should be excluded from any state park grounds the park is being divided into three areas: one of the finest beaches on the great lakes, which will be kept open; the picnic grounds comprising about half the grounds, which will also be open and an arboretum which contains the delicate and inflammable vegetation of the park, and which may be visited by students, artists, etc., by making applications to the park superintendent.

TO ENLARGE HATCHERIES.
Plans were made for enlarging activities of several state fish hatcheries.

"Present indications are that the new Bohner Lake will be one of the most important links in Wisconsin's chain of fish hatcheries," the commission said. An 11 acre pond for bass and lake fish, will be the largest pond of this kind in Wisconsin and one of the largest in the United States. There will be a pile battery there with annual capacity of 50,000, 000 fish.

Plans were also made for enlargement of the Westfield hatchery, now just a building located in front of a large woods.

Plans were presented by N. O. Webster, superintendent of fisheries for construction of a series of raceways rearings pounds through the woods. The fish will be hatched in the

Comic Opera Revolt May Cost Job Of Prince Louis

BY MINOTT SAUNDERS

Monte Carlo — Above the clinking of the little ivory ball on the roulette tables and the laughter of gay guests on the casino dance floors, is being heard the roar of revolt in the proud principality of Monaco. Prince Louis II is liable to lose his job as ruler unless he has a break in his luck.

The people of Monaco want reforms and unless they get them they threaten this romantic little state with such cold democratic institutions as a referendum and a republic. Prince Louis has found his royal seat here so shaky that he has taken up residence in Paris and is defying his subjects.

TROUBLE BEGAN LAST FALL.
The relations between Prince Louis and his people became seriously strained last autumn when the people protested against the Prince's support of the Societe des Bains de Mer, which owns the Casino and controls the gambling. Louis gets a fat cut out of the gambling receipts and the liberal privileges he grants. His luck has always been good. Although his principality is small, he has been able to rule with complete power, always careful, as he is, to remain very friendly with the Republic of France.

But the break in the luck at Monte Carlo has not been so good during the past few years for the people of Monaco. The famous resort has lost much of its popularity and fashionable visitors to the Cote d'Azur have been giving their time and money to neighboring places, such as Nice, Cannes and Juan les Pins. The people of Monaco, whose business and prosperity depend largely on the popularity of Monte Carlo, have been suffering from what they call the neglect of the Societe des Bains de Mer. They want reforms that will bring Monte Carlo its old flare, but these reforms mean heavy expenditures which the Societe is not ready to make. Prince Louis is getting his all right, so he doesn't want to disturb the Societe.

Recently the Council of Monaco passed the following resolution: "Seeing that Prince Louis II has utterly failed to make good his promises made six months ago, and that he has refused to meet three delegations which have traveled to Paris to discuss the matter with him, this Council desires to make one last appeal to His Highness to reconsider his position and to return to building and transferred to the raceways.

At the state game farm in Peninsula state park, Door county, the commission approved plans for enlarging the capacity to take care of 10,000 birds next year.

On the last day of the tour the commission travelled westward from Marinette through Forest county and Oconto to Laona, and then south through the 1200 acres burned over by forest fires this summer. The fires were confined almost entirely to cut-over areas containing slashings left by lumber companies after recent lumbering operations, so very little standing timber was damaged.

ify the losses and injuries of his people. "And that, failing such rectifications, or failing his return to Monaco, this Council decides to put the following vote to a referendum of the citizens of Monaco: "Are you or are you not in favor of Prince Louis II abdicating and the formation of a republic allied to France?"

"And by this referendum this Council will abide." Louis made concessions to his people some months ago after a comic opera storming of his majestic palace on the picturesque hill overlooking the Mediterranean. That is, it was comic to Riviera visitors, but not to Louis. He ordered out his home guards with their Chocolate Soldier uniforms, gaudy strappings, plumes and swords—they have for years constituted one of the sights of Monte Carlo.

A surge of irate humanity, 50 or so strong, rushed the gates, slapped some of the soldiers in the face and cut out of the gambling receipts and the liberal privileges he grants. Before such an attack the guardmen fled in disorder, desperately brushing off their clothes.

BROKE HIS PROMISES
Louis made his concessions, replaced some of the uniforms, and hurried off to Paris. His decision now not to live up to these concessions has caused the crisis. He has virtually rejected the ultimatum from the Council in such a way that Parliament has rejected his rejection. Before receiving any more deputations Louis insists that the newspaper, Echo Monégasque, which has persistently attacked him and his administration of the Casino, be suppressed. It is supposed to be poisoning the minds of his subjects, but Louis' power has so been weakened that he cannot suppress it.

Things look bad. Louis' run of luck at Monte Carlo appears to be breaking. If the referendum is put to the people there is a good chance that Louis will be forced to abdicate. His army isn't the sort to save him and he can hope for no support from France, because to good Republicans his principality has always been somewhat comic. A republic will serve the people perhaps better and they are so liberal-minded that the little ivory ball will go clicking merrily on, whatever happens to Louis.

CLERK GETS COPIES OF NEW REPORT BLANKS

Copies of new forms by which justices of peace in Outagamie-co. will be required to make regular reports to the county board have been received by John E. Hantschel, county clerk. The justices will be required to report on all matters which concern the county. The must tell the amounts of fees and costs and fines collected and how the money is disposed of. Mr. Hantschel plans to order a supply of the blanks for distribution in the county.
